Russians Sealing Fate of Vienna as Last Gap Closing

Retreat Corridor Narrowed—Make Gains in Frontal Assault on City

LONDON, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—Red Army tank columns, in a headlong 14-mile sweep around Western Vienna, three-fourths encircled the Austrian capital yesterday, leaving the Nazi garrison a 24 and one-half mile escape gap, as other shock troops gained in a frontal assault through the city's rubble-strewn streets.

Reaching the Danube River northwest of the city, Russian troops sliced across six of Vienna's escape routes and left the imperiled capital with only seven of an original 22 major railroads and highways.

Berlin reports said that the escape gap to the north already had been narrowed. Soviet cavalrymen were said to have forded the Morava River northeast of Vienna and to have established bridgeheads that threatened to close the enemy's last retreat roads.

At the same time, Berlin reported that tank spearheads had broken 28 miles through the Vienna woods west of the capital and were plunging westward within 125 miles of Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden in Bavaria.

While Moscow officially confirmed that Soviet tommy-gunners had broken across the Vienna's southern city limits and were battling toward its cratered heart, Soviet troops elsewhere on the Eastern Front carved out new gains.

Cleaning out Southwestern Poland, the Soviets moved within 12 miles of Teschen, and in Czecho-Slovakia gained 10 miles on a 80-mile front. In Yugoslavia, other Russian units battered to within 100 miles of Italy at a point 42 miles northeast of the Croatian capital of Zagreb.

As the Nazis defiantly cried that Vienna "will be defended to the last sewer," two Soviet armies extendd th siege arc around Vienna to [illegible] miles of the west, south and east. Moscow reports said high Nazi of-

LONDON, April 7.—The rapid progress of the Canadian forces on the extreme left of the Twenty-First Army group's radiating advance from the Rhine, says The Times special correspondent in Germany, focuses more and more attention on the liberation of Holland.

The 3rd Canadian Division is now on the River Ijssel linked with the British 49th Division around Zutphen. The Canadians are moving upon Deventer and some German reports indicate they have reached the outskirts of Zwolle, thus cutting off all enemy forces west and south of the Zuider Zee.

According to The Times' Paris correspondent, both Canadian and United Kingdom troops are engaged in a great fanning-out movement spreading not only into Holland but across the Hannoverian plain.

Apparently the general objective of the Canadians is Groningen, the capture of which would cut all German communications into The Netherlands. The Canadians have accomplished a fine feat, says The Times correspondent, in driving so quickly northwards, because the country, north of Almelo is laced with waterways and in places it was necessary to make detours across the German frontier.

That some German forces are making for what is called Hitler's redoubt, a great defended area in the mountains of Southern Germany where the Nazis may make their last stand, is indicated in reports from the 1st Tactical Air Force, which now ranges far ahead of the United States Third Army.

The Russians have fought their way into Vienna and the Germans have made a broadcast appeal for a last stand by the garrison there.

The relative ease with which the Red Army forced their way into Austria was the outcome of a long series of fierce battles between Lake Balaton and the Danube in Budapest itself and on the River Hron.

The Nazis launched a heavy counter-offensive. It failed, and they were able to do little more. Now

Shake-Up in Japan's War Commands

Ministry Announces Change of Leaders

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (AP).—Japan's third War Cabinet, headed by Baron Kantaro Suzuki as Premier, was formed today in a shower of American air bombs and installed in Imperial Palace ceremonies held under a black cloud of naval defeat.

The War Ministry straightaway announced a reshuffle of the Japanese Army High Command, said Tokio radio in FCC-monitored broadcasts, and Suzuki warned his countrymen the "very basis of our Empire's existence will be threatened if the situation is allowed to pass as it has been."

Domei, Japanese news agency, announced that Suzuki, successor to Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, whose Cabinet fell Thursday, personally took the portfolios of Foreign Minister and Greater East Asia Minister, two top rank posts.

A shake-up in the Japanese Army High Command was announced by the War Ministry even while the Cabinet was being installed in the presence of Emperor Hirohito at the Imperial Palace.

Tokio radio announced that Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, War Minister in the Koiso Cabinet, and Field Marshal Shunroku Hata were appointed commanders of the army command, and Gen. Masakazu Kawabe commander of the air force.

Koiso's Cabinet resigned as the result of the "war situation," Tokio said, and to make way for a stronger Government. But Su-

Appeals to Sweden To End Neutrality

LONDON, April 7 (AP).—The Norwegian Government, declaring that a Nazi force of approximately 200,000 would make a "last desperate stand," Norway appealed today to Sweden to drop its neutrality and rescue what can be saved of Norway.

The general feeling in Norway, a statement issued by the Royal Norwegian Government said, "seems to be that the war against the Germans has reached the stage where neutrality has become a mere, empty word, that both the Swedish people and the Government are in fact aware of their moral responsibility and are prepared to assist in saving what can be saved."

Dominion General Election in July Is Prediction at Ottawa

(Special to The Daily Colonist)

OTTAWA, April 7.—A Dominion general election in July and the opening of the first session of the next parliament the end of August are being freely predicted tonight on Parliament Hill.

Issue of the election writs will not be before the Victory Loan Campaign is over on May 12 but cabinet sources expressed the belief the necessary issue of the writs will take place then. What period would elapse between the issue of the writs and polling day is a matter to be determined by the government which fixes the elec- [illegible] but the minimum time under the Dominion Election Act is roughly sixty days. Enumeration of voters [illegible] starts forty-nine days before polling but a few days extra are required formally to appoint the enumerators who may be lined up and to equip and instruct them.

The view is that the period between issue of the writs once that is done and actual voting will be no longer than is necessary. This would indicate a general election in mid-July, unless some unexpected retarding factor should crop up.

A July election would mean that the way for the new parliament to set up to business by the end of August, [illegible] would be to vote supply for the remaining seven months of the fiscal year as appropriation [illegible] about to be voted [illegible] to carry on until August [illegible] and [illegible] whatever legislation might be [illegible]

Call on Comrades in Germany to End War

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP).—An appeal by German prisoners of war in the United States to German soldiers and people to "put down your weapons immediately" is being broadcast to the Reich.

The War Department made public the text of the message tonight, saying that the "petition was signed voluntarily by 1,381 of the 3,102 German prisoners of war" held at Camp Devens, Mass.

The message was forwarded to the camp commander for transmittal and the War Department said arrangements had been made to broadcast it to the German people.

The peace appeal was addressed by the prisoners to "The German soldiers and workers, German men and women."

Strike at Japan With Superforts

WASHINGTON, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—A force of perhaps half a hundred Superfortresses struck military targets in the Kanoya area on the southern tip of Japan yesterday.

The Twentieth Air Force gave no details yet of the attack carried out on Sunday, Tokio time, by the 21st Bomber Command based on the Mariana Islands.

Victory in Honan For Chinese Arms

CHUNGKING, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—A major Chinese victory in Southwestern Honan Province was claimed last night by the Chinese High Command.

A communique said counter-attacking Chinese forces killed 5,000 Japanese troops driving for Shensi Province, guarding the northern approaches to the Chinese capital.

The reported victory was at West Neisiang on the Honan-Shensi highway, 25 miles northwest of the great Central China city of Hankow.

The High Command said the Chinese destroyed 15 Japanese tanks and captured a large quantity of war supplies.

Enemy remnants were fleeing with the Chinese in pursuit, the communique said.

Chinese planes attacking in support of the besieged defenders of Laohokow, 200 miles northwest of Hankow, the Chinese added, blasted the attacking Japanese and killed many of them.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (AP).—Former Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo, who helped frame the Russo-Japanese Neutrality Pact which the Soviet Union repudiated Thursday, has been reappointed to that post in Japan's third war Cabinet, Tokio radio confirmed late Saturday night.

Death for Traitor

VERSAILLES, April 7 (AP).—A French court administered swift justice today in the case of two Nazi sympathizers who betrayed four British parachute troopers for a small "sum" of money.

The Frenchmen spotted the British soldiers near a railroad station and notified the Germans, receiving the equivalent of $40 apiece after the Germans had shot three of the parachutists.

The court of justice sentenced one Frenchman to death, and gave the other 20 years at hard labor.

100 Tons of Hitler's Hoarded Gold Taken By American Army

Bullion Buried in Hidden Salt Mine

WITH THE UNITED STATES THIRD ARMY, April 7 (AP).—The golden treasure of Adolf Hitler's collapsing Reich—more than 100 tons of gold bullion, the currencies of many nations, and stacks of priceless art works—was captured today by the Third Army in an unexpected haul that may shorten the war by robbing the German army of its payroll.

The stupendous cache, its full value as yet undetermined but possibly worth billions of dollars, was found in a hidden salt mine at Merkers, 18 miles southeast of Hersfeld, when two talkative German women spilled the secret to military police.

Reichsbank officials on the spot said the bullion represented "all the gold in Germany," and the German army gave some confirmation by trying desperately to get back into Merkers today with a heavy counter-attack in the Muhlhausen area 30 miles north, in which the United States 8th Armored and 85th Infantry Division knocked out 46 enemy tanks and smashed the attack.

Some 200 British prisoners of war also had been employed in the mine which is called the Werke Kaiseroda, and they had seen 20 ten-ton truckloads of gold unloaded in the mine. This would mean 200 tons of gold but the German bankers in-

Near Conquest of Mindanao South

MANILA, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—The 41st Division virtually has completed conquest of Southern Mindanao, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today, while on Negros Island elements of the 40th Division advanced 30 miles capturing two airfields in their sweep.

The Far Eastern Air Force, maintaining its daily devastation schedule, blasted Formosa's Kiirun shipping base with 144 tons of bombs and poured 87 more onto Hongkong's Kowloon dock.

Clouds prevented estimate of damage at Kiirun but at Kowloon bombs created explosions and fires in an electric power plant and a large building in the supply area.

Direct hits were reported on a tanker in Hongkong harbor and at nearby Kai Tak airdrome.

A 3,000-ton freighter and several smaller freighters were severely damaged by other bombers ranging the South China Sea. Two other small vessels were sunk east of Formosa.

Medium bombers found a Japanese light cruiser in Soemba Strait in the lesser Sundas and scored two direct hits. MacArthur said the warship was either sunk or heavily damaged.

Other Philippines-based aircraft strafed and bombed Nipponese shipping in the Macassar Strait and the Celebes.

Nazi Party Leaders Will Give Up Jobs

LONDON, April 7 (AP).—The German radio broadcast today a Hitler decree ordering Nazi Party district leaders to give up their jobs to local governments.

"All personal union between the offices of the State and the Nazi Party has to be split up," the decree said.

"The reason for the decree is that the tasks of the party are mainly to care for the population and in these difficult times when quick decisions and sometimes moves have to be carried out at a moment's notice, it is not thought suitable that a party official should be burdened with the tasks of local administration and vice versa."

Britain Building Bigger Bombers

LONDON, April 7 (CP).—A British bomber of the same class as the American Superfortress is being built for R.A.F. attacks on Japan, The London Daily Mail said today.

The newspaper's air correspondent said the first news of the plane was given yesterday by Sir Roy Dobson, managing director of A. V. Roe Ltd., makers of the Lancasters which now are dropping 11-ton bombs on Germany.

Slaying of 700 French Civilians by Nazi Firing Squad Told by Witness

PARIS, April 7 (Reuters).—The massacre of 700 French civilians by German troops armed with machine guns and tommy guns was revealed today.

The slaughter made within Fort Chatillon, about seven miles from Paris, was described to French authorities by a young German medical soldier who witnessed the early morning scene in September, 1943.

The young German, later captured by the French, led authorities to the grave into which the bodies were kicked and then covered with lime and earth.

It was only today that the authorities permitted the retelling of the witness story, which said in part:

"I was on guard when at about 6 a.m. several lorries each carrying about 50 French civilians arrived at the fort. It was said that most of them had been brought there because they had refused to sign contracts to work in Germany.

"They were followed by French workmen who began digging a trench in the encampment.

"The next day, about 5 a.m., 500 of those who had come in the lorries were led into the encampment in the northern part of the fort.

"Two searchlights played on them. There were six machine guns on the wall of the fort which bounded one side of the encampment and I could also see about 15 soldiers with tommy guns. The Frenchmen were herded in singing patriotic songs.

"A few minutes later a captain gave the order to fire. The machine guns rattled, each firing about 50 rounds, and the tommy-gunners also shot into the crowd. When the volleys ceased German soldiers marched in with rifles and shot all Frenchmen who had not been killed outright.

"Most of the Frenchmen rolled into the trench dug behind them. Those who were left were kicked into the trench by German soldiers and then lime, sand and earth were thrown on the bodies.

"Two hundred other French civilians were killed and buried in the same way a few minutes after.

"When the victims came into the encampment they seemed to realize their fate but they never uttered a word as they awaited execution.

"Then I heard a row outside the fort. It was other French people trying to break in. I had to help dress the wounds of a dozen or so German soldiers wounded in the struggle with them.

"The next day all our officers and men numbering about 90 who had been present at the mass shooting assembled in the mess and the captain demanded that all should swear to reveal nothing of the affair, not even to their comrades, under penalty of imprisonment."

The private has given authorities a list of officers and non-commissioned officers who took part in the mass murder. It is believed the captain was taken prisoner by the British forces near San Marino in August, 1944.

British 35-Mile Dash Flanking Bremen, U.S. Tanks Pass Hannover

Canadian Army Troops Clear Meppen After Driving Off Heavy German Counter-Attacks

PARIS, April 7 (AP).—British armor, in a 35-mile dash flanking Bremen, struck today to a point 20 miles southeast of that great Weser port, and to within 60 miles of Hamburg on the Elbe.

Canadian First Army troops had cleared Meppen at the juncture of the Ems River and the Dortmund-Ems Canal, 47 miles south of Emden, after driving off heavy German counter-attacks.

The Canadian 4th Division, which had smashed northward 50 miles in two days, was temporarily stalled at Meppen, where Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, said all bridges over both waterways had been blown.

New crossings will have to be forced before the advance can continue either north or east.

Other Canadian tanks carving up The Netherlands were within 12 miles of cutting the last rail escape for the Germans in the great Western Dutch cities, and were within 20 miles or less of the Zuider Zee.

United States Ninth Army tanks outflanked Hannover in an 18-mile drive that swept across the Leine River ten miles southeast of the city and roared down in the direct road to Berlin, 140 miles ahead.

On their south flank the United States First Army crossed the Weser River at numerous points against light resistance and west of the stream was locked in a raging battle with German troops held in their battle positions by their pistol-pointing officers.

Bled white by disasters east and west of the Rhine, the once-mighty German Army seemed powerless to stem the big push on Berlin and a United States First Army staff officer declared confidently:

"The German Army no longer is capable of maintaining a cohesive front. We are entering the final mop-up stage."

From the salient thrust up near the North Sea southeastward for 300 miles to the Siegfried Line in the edge of the Black Forest, this was

Japs Routed Battle Loss 6 Warships

Enemy Attempt to Halt Invasion Fails

GUAM, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—United States Navy carrier aircraft smashed probably the last strong Japanese naval force, including the superbattleship Yamato, in the East China Sea Saturday as the Nipponese steamed out apparently in an effort to turn the tide of war.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced from his headquarters here that the battle was fought around noon Saturday, Japanese time (8 p.m. Friday, Pacific War Time).

The communique reported six Japanese warships, including the Yamato, and 391 enemy planes were destroyed in Friday and Saturday sea and air actions.

A later count raised to 417 the number of enemy planes destroyed April 6 and 7.

In Washington an official navy spokesman said "a good 25 per cent of the remaining Japanese major combat force" was lost or put out of action in the engagement.

United States Pacific Fleet losses were listed as three destroyers sunk, several other destroyers and smaller craft damaged and seven carrier planes destroyed.

Advance North on Okinawa Coasts

GUAM (Sunday), April 8 (AP).—Marines of the 3rd Amphibious Corps advanced 3,000 yards northward along both coasts of Okinawa yesterday morning against negligible resistance, but the 24th Corps ran into stiff resistance from heavily entrenched Japanese in their push toward Naha, the Island capital, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The units in the south were moving through hard terrain in which the enemy is fortified in extensive trenches, blockhouses and pillboxes, the admiral said. He made no mention of the extent of the soldiers' gains.

The Japanese made a small-scale aerial attack on the ground troops yesterday. Twelve attackers were downed. Nothing was said as to whether they inflicted any damage.

Continuing their long distance support of the Okinawa invasion forces, British carrier planes operating some 300 miles to the south hit airfields and other installations on Ishigaki and Miyako in the Sakishima Islands, southernmost of the Ryukyus. British pilots shot down five Japanese warplanes and destroyed three more on the ground.

173 Japanese Planes Down

Superforts Battle Enemy Over Tokio

GUAM, April 8 (Sunday) (AP).—American B-29s and their P-51 escorts destroyed or damaged 173 Japanese fighter planes in their 300-plane bombing of Tokio and Nagoya yesterday, Air Force officials disclosed today.

The Superforts, running into their greatest aerial battle of their many attacks on Japan's war-important industrial centres, alone destroyed or damaged 136 enemy fighters.

The P-51 Mustangs, making the army's first land-based fighter sweep over the Japanese homeland, accounted for 37 interceptors. Of these, 21 were shot down, six probably destroyed and ten damaged.

Although a 20th Air Force communique in Washington listed B-29 victories at 84, pilot reports made after the giant armada returned to Marianas bases increased their victories to 131. No breakdown between damaged and known destroyed was made here immediately.

This was 20 more Japanese interceptors than B-29s had downed or damaged on any previous raid and the combined bag was 57 more than the B-29s old record of 116, made over Tokio January 27.

Five Superfortresses and two Mustangs were lost as the Americans ran into intense anti-aircraft fire as well as surprisingly heavy fighter opposition.

Fiercest aerial battles raged over Tokio, where about 180 Superfortresses ran into nearly twice as many Japanese fighters as did the approximately 120 B-29s which attacked Nagoya.

The Tokio-Nagoya strike was the greatest land-based aerial attack of the war against the Japanese homeland.

Fifth Army Holds Monte Folgorito

ROME, April 7 (AP).—American Fifth Army troops have captured 3,000-foot Monte Folgorito, dominating the main west coast highway one mile southeast of Massa, in a drive putting them 19 1-2 miles from the naval base of La Spezia, a communique announced today.

Two British destroyers, Marne and Lookout, and swarms of American Eighth Army troops drove across the Reno River northwest of San Alberto near the southwest corner of Valli di Comacchio.

The two actions, anchoring more firmly the two sea flanks, already have brought in more than 2,000 prisoners, but there was no indication yet of any large-scale offensive such as Clark has promised.

In the central sector of the front the Germans held grimly to their prepared positions around Bologna.

Dutch Nazis Form Barrier To Liberation of Holland

By L. S. B. SHAPIRO
North American Newspaper Alliance

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN NORTHERN HOLLAND, April 7 (By wireless).—The British and Canadian troops fighting to liberate stricken Holland already have taken enough Dutch S.S. prisoners to indicate that at least two battalions composed of fanatical Hollanders with Nazi leanings currently are fighting alongside the Germans. These young Dutchmen are the only first-class troops barring the way to complete liberation of their country.

These Dutch S.S. troops have been trained in Germany and wear regular German uniforms. Their Nazi indoctrination appears even more complete than that of the regular German S.S. and they are the most arrogant of all prisoners currently filling the P.O.W. cages. Although they are officered by Dutchmen there is a high percentage of Germans intermingled with each formation. When captured by our troops these Dutch Nazis require elaborate protection from the fury of their own compatriots who would gladly lynch them if given the opportunity.

Most of the Dutch S.S. are 20 to 24 years of age, although we have taken a sprinkling of youngsters of 16 and 17 who were taken to Germany four years ago and educated in the Hitler Youth movement. They returned to Holland and now are perfect examples of Nazi indoctrination.

A typical Dutch S.S. now a prisoner is 18-year-old Mark Formann of Amsterdam. He was captured this morning. His father is a German-born violinist in the Amsterdam Symphony Orchestra and his mother is Dutch. In 1940 at the age of 12 he went to live with a German aunt in Frankfurt and was given an education in the Hitler Jugend. He returned to Amsterdam last December and joined the Dutch S.S. of his own volition.

When his mother and father objected to his joining the German Army he denounced both his parents to the German authorities. He is the perfect prototype of the fanatical youngster portrayed in the play "Tomorrow the World."

Although he had had a terrifying experience this morning when his entire platoon, with the exception of himself, was wiped out, his spirit was unbroken when he was brought

Troops Pleased With Decision To Seek Volunteers for Pacific

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, April 7 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's announcement that no compulsion will be used in the selections of troops for Pacific operations will give Canadian soldiers [illegible] "more than a little satisfaction," the Canadian Army newspaper Maple Leaf said today in an editorial.

(The Prime Minister's statement, made Wednesday in the House of Commons at Ottawa, was followed yesterday by an announcement from Douglas Abbott, Parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister McNaughton, that the Canadian Army call-up system will be discontinued when the war with Germany ends.)

The Maple Leaf said that the business of being "Burma-bound" recently had prompted many slit-trench sallies, but the general matter was touched with doubt and worry born of ignorance of Canada's plans.

"But now they know it's going to be up to them and they're going to be able to make up their minds on home ground," the paper said.

"They won't be any raw recruits joining the army for adventure or because it's the thing to do. They'll be able to figure out what they want to do on the basis of [illegible] gained knowledge and rough but very instructional experience. And the funny part about it all is that the characters who've yelped the loudest about wanting to get out of the army probably will be the first in line for the Pacific."

The Canadians learned of the Pacific plans today from The Maple Leaf, which devoted its lead story to the Prime Minister's announcement with the headline, "Pacific Service on Voluntary Basis." Several London papers which reached the front carried a few paragraphs on the announcement.

However, most combat troops were too busily engaged to digest the news, although within the next few days they'll have a chance to think it over and form their opinions.

Humor on Rhine

Typical British humor in the face of danger is exemplified in this British soldier, Driver Wastell, who wears a Prussian helmet and smokes a cigar as he maintains his watch on the Rhine.

Dies Aboard Ship

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—Lt.-Col. Frederick Herschel Stringer, who had been officer commanding the military hospital at Prince George, collapsed and died aboard Ss. Catala last night as the vessel was preparing to sail for the North.

Member of a well-known family, Lt.-Col. Stringer was the son of the late Archbishop I. O. Stringer, of the Yukon.

He had been stationed in Prince George about a year, following his return from overseas.

Before the war he was with Columbia Coast Mission for several years as medical officer aboard the hospital ship Columbia and medical superintendent at the hospital at Rock Bay.

He graduated from Toronto University.

He leaves his widow, his mother, three brothers—one a clergyman, another a doctor and a third a lawyer—and one sister.

Naval Action

In a second communique, Nimitz said additionally that "one of our heavy fleet units suffered minor damage during an aircraft attack, but is fully operational." The heavy unit, presumably a battleship or large carrier had participated in the naval battle.

The Japanese initiated the two days of desperate action in efforts to shatter the American amphibious force invading Okinawa Island, some 325 miles south of the Nippon homeland.

A large force of Japanese aircraft attacked the invasion ships and Okinawa shore positions Friday. The communique said the desperate Japanese airmen succeeded in sinking the three destroyers and damaging the other warships. United States fighter planes and gunners brought down 116 Japanese planes.

The Japanese surface force—representing probably about all that remained of the Emperor's once proud combined fleets—was sighted heading into the East China Sea from Nippon's Inland Sea bases by United States Fleet Air Wing One search craft before noon Saturday.

Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher immediately sent his carrier task force to intercept the Japanese.

The carrier planes struck the Nippon forces "during the middle of the day" only 50 miles southwest of Kyushu Island, which is a part of the Japanese homeland.

There was no air opposition over the Japanese ships—even that close to the heart of Nippon's Empire—indicating the Nipponese had used all available aircraft in the heavy attack on Okinawa the previous day.

Swarming in from all directions, despite heavy gunfire from the ships, the American planes sent their deadly torpedoes and bombs into the hulls and decks of the Japanese force.

The 45,000-ton Yamato, which the United States communique said was the "most powerful ship left in the Japanese navy"—went down belching smoke and fire from at least eight torpedo and eight heavy bomb hits.

Also sunk were a light Agano class cruiser, one other small light cruiser or large destroyer and three destroyers. Three other destroyers were left burning.

"About three destroyers," the communique said, "were all that escaped from the attack."

It added that in "minor contacts" prior to the main action, 30 Japanese planes were shot down. The United States carrier force aircraft had destroyed 245 enemy planes the previous day in resisting heavy Nipponese strikes along the Ryukyus.

Nimitz announced that units of Mitscher's carrier force in the Saturday battle were commanded by Rear Admirals F. C. Sherman, A. W. Radford, G. F. Bogan and J. J. Clark.

Hoarded Gold

stated that something over 100 tons was the correct amount.

The gold still is under seal in a huge subterranean vault and Third Army officers said its value would not be known until American finance officers break the seals and audit the hoard. They expressed belief however that the German bankers undoubtedly were telling the truth.

Going down into the mine in a big double-decker elevator, officers of the 90th Infantry Division, which made the find, did inspect the vast quantities of German, United States, British and other currencies and the great crates of paintings and other art works.

One of the captured officials said the currency was particularly needed by the German army to meet payrolls and buy goods from Switzerland or Sweden, and that it could not be replaced because Allied bombings had smashed German engraving plants.

The 90th's unusual haul came about in quaint fashion. The division entered the little salt-mining village Thursday knowing nothing of the cache. Last night two German women were found on the street after curfew. They explained to military police that they were looking for a midwife for a friend who was having a baby. During the course of the conversation the women mentioned that something of great value had been stored recently in the mine.

The division already had found that Dr. Fritz Vieck, one of the eight directors of the Reichsbank, two other bank officials, and Dr. P. G. Rabe, curator of the German State Museum were in Merkers. Division officers told the Germans to show up today at the mine for a treasure hunt. The Germans did so, and—once the secret was out—talked freely.

The booty in the mine comprised 100 tons of gold bullion (about $100,000,000) three billion German marks, two million dollars in American currency, one hundred million French francs, 110,000 British pounds, four million Norwegian crowns, and lesser amounts in Turkish pounds, Spanish pesetas and Portuguese escudos.

The art treasure, assembled from Germany's National Art galleries last February included originals by Raphael, Van Dyke and Durer. There also were 120 cases of Goethe's original manuscripts.

The Germans started moving their gold reserve and currency from Berlin, February 11, Dr. Vieck said.

A few weeks ago as Patton's troops pressed ever nearer the hiding place, the Germans started frantically to move the treasure from the salt mine the bank official said. But their efforts were thwarted by blown-up bridges and they had to return it a few days ago to the 2,100-foot-deep mine.

A German lawyer captured with Vieck and who said he was one of the Reichsbank's counsels said the German Army tried at first to get everything out but the Americans were coming so fast that they just concentrated on the money. In the end they had to leave everything.

Patton ringed the golden salt mine reputed to be one of the world's largest with a circle of tanks.

The tanks were commanded by Lt.-Col. V. B. Kedrovsk[illegible] of Gary, Ind.

Today's preliminary inspection of the cache was made by Col. Joseph Tully, of San Antonio, Texas, assistant commander of the 90th Division, Maj. J. Frank Brick of 40 Fifth Avenue, New York, division judge advocate and Lt.-Col. William I. Russell of Chevy Chase, Md. All said they were absolutely dumbfounded at the stacked bags of currency they saw.

Wolf Von K[illegible]rzel, a [illegible] lawyer acted as interpreter. He said he had an uncle, Dr. Emil Thor[illegible]h, living at 1924 Cedarlane Blvd., Minneapolis.

The German officials said the gold was in a chamber 40 feet long by 70 feet wide and was stacked three feet high in bars weighing [illegible] pounds each. The currency was carefully done up in bags.

The American officers who examined many art works which the Germans insisted were only those belonging to German museums, none from countries previously occupied by German troops. The works included paintings, tapestries, statuary, engravings, coats of mail dating from Roman times and many Egyptian relics.

These included 400 paintings from the National Museum, 300 cases of paintings from the Emperor Frederick Galleries, 300 cases from the German Museum of Sculpture, an equal number from the Egyptian Museum, and 200 cases of etchings from the Kopperstech Museum.

Paintings were carefully identified by a lithographed copy on each side of their crates. In addition there were huge stacks of paintings which had not been packed at all.

Over the entrance to the treasure vault there still blazed a Neon sign, "Heil Hitler."

Tokio Refers to Russia's Break

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (AP)—Despite Russia's denunciation of the Russo-Japanese Neutrality Pact, Japan's "attitude of neutrality remains unchanged," a Tokio radio political commentator asserted tonight.

"In the Soviet reorganization of its policy in the East," he added, "will depend the establishment of a strong and stable peace or conquest and turmoil for years to come."

The speaker, identified as Toshiro Shimonouchi, whose voice was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, ascribed Russia's action to its "military and political comeback in Europe."

Shimonouchi said he doubted the Soviet's announced reasons, "That Japan is aiding Germany, Russia's enemy and fighting against the United States and Britain, Russia's allies."

"These reasons," he said, "cannot but be regarded as purely diplomatic and not the real reasons. If we know the real reason, then it can be said that such a situation has existed for more than three years since Japan entered the war in December 1941—and that the treaty could have been scrapped then as being no longer consistent with the new developments. The real reasons, undoubtedly, run deeper."

[illegible] was internationally known as a moderate who often has opposed Japan military extremists.

Suzuki's retention of the Foreign and Greater East Asia Minister posts gives him the key positions should Japan, failing in war and faced with Russia's denunciation of the Russo-Japanese Neutrality Pact, make peace overtures, a movement which The Army and Navy Journal in Washington predicted today.

The Premier, however, may be [illegible] the Foreign and Greater East Asia portfolios only temporarily, a later Domei report, indicated, pending the arrival in Tokio of Shigenori Togo, a former Foreign Minister, and Naoto Kobiyama, who may be named to take the Greater East Asia post.

Togo was Foreign Minister from December 7, 1941, to September 1, 1942, in Japan's first War Cabinet headed by Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo. Kobiyama, president of the South Manchuria Railway, is due to arrive in Tokio tomorrow at Suzuki's request, Domei said.

The Japanese news agency also reported a previously unmentioned name in Suzuki's Cabinet, Gen. [illegible] Minami, president of the Imperial Japanese Political Association [illegible] political party. Minami [illegible] without portfolio.

Mass Strategic Bombing of Germany Coming to End

PARIS, April [illegible] The day of sky-darkening fleets of heavy bombers is passing from the fast-shrinking European battle theatre and mass strategic bombing, the "notable experiment" which Prime Minister Churchill said was worth trying to knock out Germany, is coming to an end.

The heavy bombers have [illegible] about done their part of the job. The targets they once reached from Britain 1,000 to 3,000 strong now have come within range of more economical bombing and rocket-firing attack by fast, low-flying fighter-bombers.

What should be done with the mighty British, American and Canadian four-engined fleets has already become a question.

It can be assumed that for a time yet some heavy bombing will be continued, probably policing Germany's sheltered oil industry and plastering her ports.

Fighter-bombers now are operating from captured fields so deep into Germany they could give front line support to Russian armies. But so far although the Russians sometime have called up heavy bombers from the U.S. 15th Air Force in Italy, they have not asked for close-up fighter-bomber support.

So far as is known by correspondents in Paris, no decision has yet been reached on the disposition of four-engined bomber fleets.

Mystical Invaders Turn Out to Be Canadians Looking for Bed

By H. T. MATSON
Daily Colonist War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, April 7 (By Cable).—That line's a lie: I'm not with the Canadian First Army at all, but on the way down to the British Second Army for a day or two, and will report with pomp and circumspection later.

This unanticipated personal change of front is the child of accident—a "CP" war correspondent burst into camp late this evening in quest of a "jeeping mate" (no jeep may budge unless burdened by two of the very best), so, despite that I had just negotiated to meander far to the north and dig in with one of the up-front units—well, in comes this maverick with a headful of clever little notions, so away we now jounce to the distant British Second.

Now, as the hour is late and as a certain amount of socks, handkerchiefs, razors and old school ties must of necessity be amassed before thundering indiscriminately down upon the unsuspecting British, my story about a certain night before leaving Germany last month must bide a mite—it was a story about jitters from heavy shelling, plus a midnight search for the corpse of a Kraut beneath the rubble in the room adjoining the sleeping quarters occupied by myself and a lad called Barney, with a finale clocked at 2.34 a.m., which time several pairs of nailed boots first kicked our door open and then proceeded to wordlessly inspect our habitat with a dim and eerie flashlight.

MYSTICAL [illegible]

At that particularly gruesome hour this rude but mystical invasion could only be the return of Rundstedt—who else would burst in like that obviously to avenge upon two people steeped in the crimes of looting and commandeering property belonging to the Fatherland?

For some nasty and seemingly interminable moments we lay squirming in our sleeping bags like a couple of half-decapitated weasels—finally one of the "Rundstedts" unmasked itself in gruff Canadian accents and inanely asked "Is this place taken?"

Our fright-furzed tongues thereupon uncurled like strips of half-cooked bacon and released a variety and quality of invective that must have sent Satan flat on his back amongst the coke and clinkers.

Actually our uninvited door-kickers were certain "Joes" from a certain division moving up from somewhere, in search of lodgings.

Had they been less terroristic about this undertaking Barney and I would unhesitatingly not only have bedded them down but indulged them also to "une brew de coffee supreme," artificed on the little square stove looted from the next village and fueled by coal biked from that bounteous mountain of the finest briquettes in all Germany—I refer reminiscently to the famed pile decorating the Goch railway yard.

FISTICUFFS NOT FAR OFF

As it was, we merely cursed those ghostly prowling "Joes"—fisticuffs were not far off at the height of this campaign, egad!—howsomever, even hotly-abused Canadian soldiers hadn't the heart to take a slug at a couple of slavering war correspondents all twisted up and sweating in their bedrolls . . . so we (the almost displaced persons) craftily waited till our ghouls had stomped off down the highway and then brewed such a brew of triple-super . . . and did we bless Snow White, who at last had manoeuvred a parcel away from the talons of black market or whatever snide and despicable "organizations" had heretofore so successfully retained such booty for their private mercenary aggrandisement.

Snow White was tops, we concurred after the second cup, and after the third we were almost in a fight over her . . . the above tale may sound crazy but really happened—all in the same night in the little roofless "Gasthaus" edging on the deep, dark, dismal Reichswald.

Promotion Closes Combat Career

LONDON, April 7 (CP).—Promotion has probably brought to a close the combat career of J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, 28-year-old English fighter pilot, former commander of a Canadian Spitfire wing, who has destroyed 38 enemy aircraft in aerial combat.

GROUP CAPTAIN J. E. JOHNSON

It was announced today that the modest wing commander, who wears the "Canada" flash on his uniform and who holds the Distinguished Service Cross and Bar, has been promoted to group captain with command of a Spitfire wing in the 2nd Tactical Air Force fighter and fighter-bomber group.

Johnson, top-scoring ace on the Western Front, will be given command of the airfield at which his new wing is based and probably confined to ground duties.

into the prison cage. I asked him if he thought he had made a mistake joining the S S.

"No," he said. "I am only ashamed that I was captured alive."

I asked him if he intended to return to Amsterdam after the war. He replied, "No. I no longer consider myself Dutch. My life is devoted to the Fuehrer. I never want to see my mother and father again."

Prison cage officials told me there are hundreds of Dutch youngsters like Ehrmann. Apparently the Germans combed Holland for children with some German blood in them and sent them to the Reich for education. The problem of what to do with them seems insuperable. Certainly Mark Ehrmann appears to be an incurable case.

Among food and medical supplies prepared for shipment to the Amsterdam and Rotterdam area are salves for skin diseases reported rampant there. The population in these centres is reliably reported to have been eating tulip bulbs, which have good nutritive qualities but result in ugly skin disorders. In Eastern Holland, now being liberated by the Canadians, food supplies are adequate as this is the richest farm area in Holland.

Miners May Come To Terms Unaided

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP).—Soft coal producers and miners agreed suddenly today that chances are good they can settle their wage dispute without Government intervention.

Chairman Ezra Van Horn of the conference of operators and the United Mine Workers told reporters "we have the belief" that a contract can be agreed to Monday. Van Horn is an operator.

K. C. Adams, of the U M W Journal, said in a statement on behalf of John L. Lewis, union president:

"Mr. Lewis shares . . . the optimistic prophecies . . . He feels, like Mr. Van Horn, that the industry should of its own accord adjudicate its controversies."

The conference sent a letter to the War Labor Board saying much the same thing as Van Horn's statement to the press. The letter spoke of a belief that "it may be possible by Monday night, April 9, to reach an agreement, at least in principle on all controversial points."

It promised the W L B that the conference would advise "not later than Monday evening whether or not an agreement has been reached."

If the controversy is not settled soon, the W L B is prepared to move in on the dispute. Today's developments, however, took immediate emphasis off prospects that the Government might seize idle coal mines. The Solid Fuels Administration estimated that the wave of unauthorized strikes since Sunday has cost the country more than a million tons of coal in Pennsylvania alone.

The old contract expired a week ago tonight, but Lewis agreed to a 30-day extension. For more than five weeks the operators and miners have been negotiating for a new one.

Interior Secretary Ickes, as solid fuels administrator, called in midweek for immediate seizure of the mines, without waiting to see whether the disputants can get together. He said the cost to the war effort permitted no one day's delay.

Premier Douglas Discusses Bonds

NEW YORK, April 7 (CP).—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan expressed satisfaction today with the results of talks this week with New York bankers which, he said, were to explore the possibility of refunding some $5,000,000 worth of Saskatchewan bonds.

The C C F Premier, to leave for Regina tomorrow, said no decisions were reached, emphasizing that his visit here chiefly was to "explore the situation." He said he had a "very favorable reception."

Provincial Treasurer Clarence M Fines will remain in New York to continue refinancing discussions, Mr Douglas said.

From Europe

two Soviet armies are in and around Vienna, whose isolation can be only a matter of a few days.

The Germans must realize, says The Times, that with the loss of Austria and setting up of a new chain of governments in Southeastern Europe favorable to Moscow, a new army can soon be brought to bear against them.

On the Northern Russian fronts the only large German force now behind the Russian lines is that in Courtland. Breslau's garrison still holds out. But in general Germany is shrinking east and west: her Baltic ports are going one by one.

Even if there should be a halt in the British and American offensives, the gap between the Allies across Germany is such that it might well be bridged by thrusts delivered from both sides in the course of the next week or ten days.

As for German resistance in places, says The Times, it continues to be fanatical. The Nazis seem to be determined to subject their country to terrible destruction.

When the cease fire in the European war comes, says The Times parliamentary correspondent, the Prime Minister will make an announcement to the House of Commons and King George will issue a proclamation. In the event of a quick finish to the war a general election in the United Kingdom will probably take place in July.

Life as a Trust

These are the days in which it is not difficult to see life as a trust. On the battlefield, men are fighting—not that they may live, but that others will. There are probably few lives that are not responsible in some part for other lives, as there are certainly few positions that are not held in trust. The element of sacrifice, be it great or small, is plainly present in times of stress, during great upheavals in the human family. Out of desolation and death the world hopes one day to wrest security and peace, so that life will be worth living.

Emerson, after Cicero and Seneca, wrote: "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it." That is pertinent to human days. There is no worthwhile service that does not enrich the doer first and most of all. What mortal happiness men have found in their lives has come most often from the effort to make others so; and seldom from the gratification of personal wants or individual desires. Life considered as a trust can be lived on the highest plane; not only because first it conforms to Divine injunction, but also from the striving in an interest nobler than that of self. The reassurance is immediate and deep.

St. Paul in his First Epistle to the Corinthians, at I Cor., iii: 8, said this: "And every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour." The sum of life proves, tardily but finally, that what we give of ourselves to others profits us most of all. Beyond all temporal rewards, whether they mature or fail to do so, man was told long ago of that accounting which would be in heaven, where the final balance will be struck.

Brief enough at any time, and tragically so in all too many instances in these times, lives are lent only for a season. Self-love, self aggrandizement, self-service cannot weigh in the same scales as that which measures those rare but infinitely precious gifts in the interest and in the service of others passing along the same way. The highest service, that perhaps which alone will count in the final tally sheet, is that which man humbly and consciously renders to his Maker, the Giver of Life Eternal. When seen so, life becomes a trust, and mortal existence its proving ground.

Public Backbone

The days are coming, in Canada as elsewhere in the world, when the general public will need to be a good deal more watchful of public business than they have been during the war years themselves. In war, of course, the public leaves it to parliament, and parliament—in Canada at all events—has grown into the habit of leaving it to governance. There has been only slight effective opposition in the wartime parliament of this country, or the legislatures for that matter. The result has been governments with a great deal of authority centred in their own hands; a condition perhaps unavoidable in war, but highly dangerous in peace. A stout backbone in the public's best protection, in either case.

What happens during the progress of a war is that the people surrender most of their inherent rights, and give up also much of their interest in the civil process of governance. There is no government that will not bear watching, and very few which are not improved by at least that degree of surveillance which forces them to prove the ground they propose to step upon next. Parliament is supposed to do that, yet parliaments have also surrendered too much of their own rights and their own initiative. As a leader without followers is an absurdity, so a nation without a voice can be in a very bad way.

The public in Canada is not confined to political parties or to the few who speak for them. It consists also of grown men and women who have as much stake in this land as anyone else, of children whose futures are just as precious as the lives of young people anywhere else about the broad world. The current drift towards public apathy, the present day leaning towards autocracy and the thinly disguised step in the direction of paternalism may or may not express the true will of the Canadian people. Somehow we do not think that it does. This is a young virile independent nation, nor is it really yet for crutches fashioned wholly from taxation.

Sweeping the Seas

The attrition that was to overtake Germany first in this war and to drive her fleet from the high seas, is catching up fast with Japan. The sinking of the 45,000-ton Japanese battleship Yamato, a sister ship of the Musashi which was sunk last October, swings the balance of naval power in the Pacific still more heavily to the United Nations in the conflict. The fact that the pride of the Japanese navy was sent down within 50 miles of the southernmost island of Japan and in broad daylight will impress upon Tokio how small the largest ocean in the world is, after all. Two enemy light cruisers and three destroyers accompanied the Yamato to the bottom, in what is described as an exchange of attacks by carrier air forces.

Like the Musashi, the Yamato was a modern capital ship; credited with a speed of 30 knots or better, and carrying a main armament of 16-inch guns. She was part [illegible] nursed in recent years, with no doubt secret assurances of her invincibility. Nothing on the water or under the water has proved to be invincible in this war, and the Yamato went down readily enough when she was struck with eight torpedoes and eight heavy bombs. Her complement could be anywhere from 1,200 to 1,500 officers and men. Their fate has not been detailed.

The loss of two such capital ships within a period of a few months must prove a heavy blow to Japan. The capital ship, for all its surface hazards in this war, is still the nucleus of a striking force at sea. Around her is built the combination of striking, raiding and patrol forces, all dovetailed into a composite plan of attack, or defence. With Japan, it has been defence for some time now, and progressively so as her surface fleets have been weakened. With the Musashi and the Yamato out of the way, and irreplaceable in time, a very real measure of superiority passes to British and United States fleets now in Pacific waters, an advantage their commanders will know how to use well. Allied losses per contra appear to have been relatively insignificant, and replaceable at will.

Cold Fronts

Meteorologists like to talk about cold fronts, warm air masses and the like. They study a picture of free air moving in balance, forever under the laws of temperature. They know of the epic battles between "warm" Pacific breezes and the pent-up and undeniably cold Arctic gales that seek hourly to spill southward into the great Pacific bowl. It is a picture replete with conflict, stress and motion, with no air mass for long the winner. Meteorologists, in short, are not surprised when they meet with an Arctic wind blowing from the west or south. They quite understand how it got there; and could give, no doubt, its brief but turbulent life history up to that moment.

It is an absorbing study, one to which possibly the public has given too scant attention. It explains the Winter-in-Spring of which householders complain as March slides into April, and still the sun is without real warmth on the ground. The battleground remains the same. The air still rises at the equator, where it is hot, and sinks towards the poles, where it is extremely cold. The spin of the Earth on its axis gives to these forces a definite twist. The conjunction of ocean and continent with varying temperatures of mountain range and level plain; even of forest and arable land, all affect the result. And each minute it is a different result, however fixed the main pattern may be.

It matters little to the Arctic wind whether it secures release for its pent up pressures in a vent down the centre of Canada or 4,000 miles away to the east, in the Pacific Ocean. The aim of all air, as of all water, is to seek a balance of whatever level that can be achieved, and upon whatever terms. That balance will not last long over any one corner of the Earth. It may be upset immediately, and the battle begun all over again. When world peace is restored mankind will learn a good deal more about that process, to his weal. Meanwhile, one grows tired of Arctic winds which blow from every quarter of the compass, uniformly cold.

Seen in Passing

The individual who early in life learns to hold his tongue has two welcomes in this world: one for his ear, which the world will ever be ready to fill, and the other for his silence, which often is the most eloquent commentary of all. Nor do the blessings end there. The listener by listening will learn as much as two individuals whose tongues play clapper to their ears, in an unnatural arrangement that nature did not intend and does not countenance in other forms of animals. Even a mule will listen between brays. Some mortals will not.

One suspects that if any nation stopped building houses for five years it would discover an unwonted shortage of homes. Nor does there seem to be any remedy for that except the building of sufficient houses to supply the homes that are needed and must one day be made available. The test, this business of telling the world and his wife to move over, is little better than the old-fashioned game of musical chairs without the music.

Valediction

They gave their best, their dearest gift of life,
And fell upon that field of battle won,
And those for whom they died in tenderness
Crowned them with roses at the set of sun.

That solemn coronation on the field
Greater than triumphs fading down the years
Those torn empurpled uniforms so grand,
Those [illegible] wreaths so rich in Love's own tears.

Here flower the laurels of Thermopylae
Clear rings the echo— Thou who passest
by
Tell them—in Canada our Motherland—
That here obedient to her word, we lie."

Skies in Burma

LONDON (By Cable).—A United Kingdom spokesman recently discussing the Burma campaign said: "The change in our fortunes in Burma is due to several causes—better training, better equipment for our armies and more experience in this kind of warfare. But the greatest single factor is the changed air situation and the use we have made of it. At one time we had to expect attacks on Calcutta and on our forces all the way up from the south. But the arrival of better aircraft and more of them changed the balance. We have steadily gained the ascendancy and now have air supremacy all over Burma and Thailand—opposition is seldom encountered. Against our 700 combat sorties a day the Japs are reduced to occasional small night attacks and a few fighter-bomber day attacks on airfields.

"The Burma war is largely a war of communications. The Japanese main means of transport are rail, water and road, the air transport being negligible. They are no longer able to use big ships and we have forced their supplies increasingly to run the gauntlet of air attack: By aircraft from China against shipping in the Formosa Channel and southward (U.S.A.F.); by strategic bombing: Superfortress raids from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur (U.S.A.F.); by heavy bombers against the Bangkok-Siam railway; by mine-laying off Sumatra (R.A.F.), by Liberator attacks on shipping off the Tenasserim coast; by Beaufighters, Mosquitos and Mustangs in Central Burma attacking road, rail and river transport (R.A.F.); by fighter-bombers attacking dumps (R.A.F.).

"Thus, we are imposing 'The Death of a Thousand Cuts' on the Japanese, but constant effort over such a vast area is necessary against the indefatigable Japanese repairers. However, the emaciated Japanese who are falling into our hands, and the crumbling of the campaign testify to the effect.

"As for our own supply position—it is unpleasant to consider the results upon us if the enemy had freedom in the air over our lines of communication. Air supremacy was the first essential in our offensive role. When the 6th Indian Division was cut off in Arakan in February, 1944, the supply aircraft kept it serviced until it broke out, and with other Indian divisions routed the Japanese, killing 7,000. A few weeks later Wingate's famous expedition was flown into action by Air Commando gliders, and supplied by air for months. Almost at the same time Imphal and Kohima were enabled by air supply to withstand siege for weeks. A whole division (the British Second), and its equipment was flown in to their relief. The Japanese with their own communications smashed by our planes saw the stream of carriers pouring in food, fuel, ordnance, ammunition and water.

"Air transport is an essential factor in the campaign. We can use this great transport power just where we like, and our land commanders have the strategist's dream—freedom to fight and manoeuvre indefinitely, independent of lines of communication. We have always used sea power in this way to put a force where we wished on an enemy's coastline, but our air supremacy and air transport system now make it possible to apply that strategic ace of trumps to the whole of a country—never before in history has any commander in the field possessed such an amazing asset. General Slim, 14th Army commander has been able to think in terms of 50-mile advances because he knew that when the objective he had planned had been gained by his troops, the Dakotas would be overhead immediately, dropping supplies. His lines of communication have been drawn in the sky.

"Here are some figures of work accomplished in 1944 by all types of Allied transport aircraft: Total hours flown, more than 300,000; total trips dispatched, over 90,000; weight of freight carried into combat zone, over 250,000 tons; number of casualties evacuated, over 60,000. Today we average more than 1,200 transport sorties daily.

"Nothing of this detracts from the magnificent work of the army, but we must not overlook the essential factor of air supremacy, without which the campaign could not have developed as it did."—United Kingdom Information Bureau.

Chats About the Stars

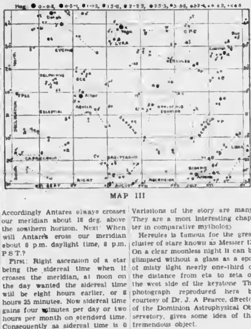
H. BOYD BRYDON

XXI: THE SUMMER CONSTELLATIONS

A good starting point for finding the Summer constellations is the giant red star, Antares, the fiery heart of the Scorpion that stung Orion to death.

Antares [illegible] temperature about 3,100 deg. K., is the largest star known, eleven hundred million times larger than the Sun. Its diameter is four hundred million miles, more than four times the distance of the Earth from the Sun. Although so much larger it is only about thirty times more massive than the Sun, for its density is less than one forty-thousandth of the air we breathe.

Antares, "rival of Mars," is near the bottom right hand corner of Map III, at right ascension 16h., 25m. declination 26 deg. south. Living in latitude 48½ deg. north our horizon meets the celestial globe about 41½ deg. south of its equator.



MAP III

Accordingly Antares always crosses our meridian about 16 deg. above the southern horizon. Next: When will Antares cross our meridian about 9 p.m. daylight time, 8 p.m. P.S.T.?

First: Right ascension of a star being the sidereal time when it crosses the meridian, at noon on the day wanted the sidereal time will be eight hours earlier, or 8 hours 25 minutes. Now sidereal time gains four minutes per day or two hours per month on standard time. Consequently as sidereal time is 0 hours at noon on March 22, it will be 8 hours at noon four months later, on July 22. The remaining 25 minutes divided by four gives us six days more, bringing us to July 28. Antares, then, will cross our meridian about 8 p.m. daylight time on July 28. Any small difference will be due to one's distance from the standard time meridian and the approximate nature of the computation.

Such knowledge may seem trivial but it can be of very practical use. The time can be estimated to within a few minutes. With a plumb line made with a stone and a piece of thread a watch can be set to within a few seconds. A person lost in strange country can learn his way out.

But the value of knowledge is not its usefulness in a crisis, great as that may be. It lies in the wider mental and spiritual horizon which all knowledge brings in its train.

Antares has a small green companion. The greenish flash sometimes seen when the star is watched with a glass while twinkling strongly as most stars do near the horizon has been attributed to it.

Just west of Antares and south of sigma is a small patch of faint greenish light. It is the Nebula No. 4 of the 103 observed by the French astronomer Charles Messier, 1730-1817, with his little 2-in. telescope. Nebula is the Latin for cloud. Other nebulae can be spotted by searching with opera or field glasses east and north from Antares.

Nearly due north from Antares, almost overhead in these latitudes in July, are the four stars which outline a keystone or flower pot, the catch figure of the constellation Hercules. Hercules is the Latinized form of Herakles, the name of the legendary founder of the Doric tribes of Ancient Greece.

The story of Hercules is the tragedy of a man who succeeded brilliantly in all he undertook—except the control of his temper. His celebrated twelve labors were performed in atonement for killing his children in a frenzy of rage. He died at his own hand but because of his great services to the gods was translated by them to the skies.

Variations of the story are many. They are a most interesting chapter in comparative mythology.

Hercules is famous for the great cluster of stars known as Messier 13. On a clear moonless night it can be glimpsed without a glass as a spot of misty light nearly one-third of the distance from eta to zeta on the west side of the keystone. The photograph reproduced here by courtesy of Dr. J. A. Pearce, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, gives some idea of this tremendous object.

Contemplate this photograph a moment. The light which made it took thirty-four thousand years to reach us. Here is not a flat layer of stars like peas spilt on a plate. It is a volume, an assemblage of stars formed into the shape of a globe by their mutual gravitational attraction, yet kept from colliding by their individual motions.

Open clusters such as the Pleiades, the Perseus clusters and the like contain some hundreds of stars. In Messier 13 fifty thousand have been counted. It may contain many hundreds of thousands.

The apparent crowding, the lack of detail in the centre of the cluster, arises because star image is piled upon star image from a depth of hundreds of light years. Yet the average distance between the stars in it is about as great as Sirius is from the Sun. Messier 13 is not unique. About 100 globular clusters are known in this universe alone.

How did these globular clusters come into being? Why do they appear to consist of but two kinds of star, one some 40 times brighter than the other? Why are stars between these two groups almost entirely absent? These questions are as yet unanswered.

It is quite true that North would have been better advised to open the bidding with a club and then to bid one heart over South's diamond response. The fact remains, however, that North did everything he could to warn his partner away from no trump, and since North scarcely could tell that he had found a haven at four clubs, there was nothing for him to do but pass, even after the three no trump contract was doubled by East. It goes without saying that South should have run to four clubs.

West divined his partner's wishes in the matter and opened the deuce of spades. Dummy ducked and East won with the king. The spade jack was returned. South discarded a club and permitted West to hold the trick with the spade queen. West now shifted to the jack of hearts, which was covered with the king and won with the ace. East led the spade 10, knocking out the ace. Now declarer tried a diamond finesse, but West pounced on the trick and led the heart nine through dummy. The 10 covered, East won and cashed his good spades.

Declarer could have saved a little from the wreck by keeping dummy's 7-3 of hearts, but he rounded out an inglorious performance by discarding the heart three and thereby permitting East to cash the eight and six. Thus the contract was down five tricks for the huge penalty of 1,400 points.

Canadian Tourist Bureaux Planning for Postwar Trade

By The Canadian Press

From the rugged Maritimes to the Old Country gardens of the Pacific Coast, plans are going ahead to make postwar Canada one of the world's most popular and widely-known tourist playgrounds. With [illegible] possibility of gradually decreasing restrictions, tourist bureaux in all provinces are getting ready for a greater influx of visitors than ever before.

Even with wartime travel difficulties and currency restrictions, Canada's more accessible parts have attracted a good flow of visitors from the United States. However, most favorite resort districts have depended mostly on visitors from the Dominion itself during the war [illegible]

Ontario resorts, like most others, have experienced a heavy flow of Canadian visitors since 1941.

Last year Montreal had 35 per cent more tourists than in 1943 and the season was also good in Quebec City and Gaspe.

The Maritimes, especially hard hit from the point of view of the American trade because they are mainly accessible by road, expects a great influx from the United States after the war, but A. J. Campbell, Nova Scotia director of information, says the main worry is accommodation, which will form a great part of future plans.

PLANS INCLUDE MOTION PICTURES

Manitoba will carry on a publicity campaign particularly in the [illegible] propriation of $15,000 over last year. Plans for after the war include motion pictures for distribution in the United States.

Saskatchewan, depending mainly on motorist trade, holds little hope of lessened restrictions in that respect until demands for the Pacific War have been met, but plans are made "which may bear future fruit" for distribution of tourist information by the Regina Board of Trade and other provincial organizations.

In Alberta, the Tourist Advisory Board will hold a conference in May among hotelmen, railroads, newspapers, and gasoline and oil men to formulate plans for the future of the industry. Even now postwar magazine layouts are being planned.

British Columbia is conducting a survey of potential mountain, lake and river Summer resort sites, and last month the Legislature enacted a law to improve the standard of accommodation at all tourist resorts.

The British Columbia Travel Bureau believes that a splendid "field for the rehabilitation of hundreds of returned men" will be found when peace returns.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

A P War Analyst

The inability of either Axis member to cope with, much less recover from, the deadly blows being struck by the Allies is apparent in the news of this past week.

German attempts to re-establish a cohesive Western Front have failed. The Nazi fight now is composed of a series of organized groups of divisional or army strength operating without any strategical relationship to each other. They have taken up positions at transportation network centres to impede but not to stop the prongs of American and British forces probing across the Reich toward the Russians on the east.

Each day's battle is fought with fewer men. The Wehrmacht's losses are enormous: 141,558 lost in prisoners alone in the first five days of this month. This, of course, does not include the additional losses in killed and wounded.

The Germans, however, continue to fight fiercely within their means. They are launching local counter-attacks. In general the swift progress of Allied forces showed some slight signs of slowing down as the week wore on. Part of this, probably the major part, may have been due to the lengthening supply lines of the Allies. In a lesser degree localized resistance by the enemy was accountable.

The Japanese had the blackest week since they started out to conquer the Orient. The Imperial fleet cornered in Japan's inland sea sent out its biggest and fastest ships, apparently to scurry for cover to the northward. An American carrier task force closed in. When the battle was over an American naval spokesman estimated that 25 per cent of the remaining major naval combat force of Japan had been sunk or put out of action.

This naval battle rounded out a week which started with the American landing on Okinawa only 325 miles south of the Japanese home land. Hard on the heels of this came another bit of bad news from Moscow: the Soviet Government's denunciation of Russia's neutrality pact with Japan. There followed the naming of the co-leaders for the final phase of war, Gen. MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz.

The progressive disintegration of the German front kept alive speculation over the imminence of Nazi defeat. And the swift developments about and within Japan gave rise to speculation about possibilities in Nippon.

These were heightened at the week-end when Tokio announced formation of a new cabinet, headed by the aged Baron Suzuki, who has the reputation of being a moderate. He kept for himself key non-military cabinet portfolios.

Relating the cabinet assignments to Japan's troubles in foreign relations and military field, there were many who saw signs of a bid for negotiated peace. But there were none who looked for an end to the Pacific War short of unconditional surrender.

Fire Fighter Returns

Work of the Corps of Canadian Fire Fighters in England during the blitz and flying bomb raids was described here yesterday by Capt. Frank Enright of Vancouver, who returned to Canada with the last of the group in February. He is the guest of J. F. Bayliss, 2520 Estevan Avenue.

Capt. Enright was in charge of Canadian fire fighting centres at Bristol, Southampton and Portsmouth, comprising three of the four major centres staffed by firemen from the Dominion. In all 400 men from 105 municipalities went to Great Britain to join in the gigantic task of controlling fires set by Nazi incendiaries. Three were from Victoria among 30 from the province.

How 75 fire fighters extinguished a blazing inferno of aviation gasoline at a plant at Bristol, the biggest blaze that the fire fighters saw in England, was described by Capt. Enright.

Describes Work Of Emily Carr

Tribute to Emily Carr was paid in an interesting article written by Ira Dilworth, Vancouver, of the C B C and published in the latest issue of Canadian Art, official magazine of the Federation of Canadian Artists.

Mr Dilworth knew Miss Carr's work thoroughly, having encouraged her to develop her latent literary talent perhaps more than anyone else. His study of the author and painter in Canadian Art is discerning.

It is illustrated by a number of reproductions of Miss Carr's famous paintings, among them "Indian Church," "Metchosin Sky," "Alert Bay" and "Blunden Harbor." The latter is in the National Gallery of Canada. There is also a "West Coast Scene" and a fine self-portrait.

Lady Halifax Urges Women To Study World Problems

By PAULINE FREDERICK
North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON When word is flashed to the British Embassy in Washington of the end of organized resistance in Germany, a slight, grey-haired woman will probably walk to the window and look out on her flowering shrub garden. She will feel relief to know that American and British boys are no longer being killed in Europe. But she will not be joyful.

"I won't have any desire to celebrate," Lady Halifax, wife of the British Ambassador, said slowly of her probable reaction to the end of hostilities in Europe. "In the first place, I don't believe there will be a "V" Day—it may be a "V" Month—but when the end of the fighting does come, we can hardly rejoice when we know that the terrible suffering in Europe will go on—the hunger, the destitution, the pain. Our feelings will be so terribly tempered by the problems of peace which will loom large. I think it would be a consolation to attend a religious service on that day.

"And besides," Lady Halifax went on seriously, "there will still be the Japanese war."

We were talking in the drawing-room of the Embassy. Lady Halifax wore a simple black and white check dress with a pique bow at the neck. Her dachshund, Frankie, was stretched at her feet. The windows were open against a breath-taking background of double-pink cherry trees that had burst into full bloom only that morning. The soft Spring air stirred the sprays of Calla lilies and mock orange in vases about the room.

IN DANGER BRITISH AND AMERICANS CO-OPERATE

Why is it, I asked Lady Halifax, that when we feel great danger, the American and British peoples work together without criticism, whereas now that we are winning, we are getting on one another's nerves?

She was in a position to answer the question, for since coming to Washington in 1941 she and the Earl of Halifax have visited 42 states. The only other British ambassador to see so much of America was Lord Bryce. Lady Halifax says her husband feels that he cannot adequately interpret the American people to the British, or the British to Americans, unless he sees as much of this country as possible.

"There is nothing inherent in the British nature or inherent in the American nature that makes us critical of one another," she laughed. "I think it's just human nature. We are like a family. When there is an emergency we all work together to meet it. When the emergency passes we are a little less strained and a little tired. There is no element to carry us on and little things that wouldn't ordinarily matter begin to irritate us. When people are anxious—as many are these days—they are apt to become critical. I think it is terribly important to try to understand one another."

Since the ambassador is a member of the British delegation to the San Francisco Conference and Lady Halifax may accompany him there, the conversation naturally turned to understanding in relation to that United Nations meeting.

WAR TAKES MORE FROM WOMEN

"Women are more anxious [illegible] than ever to prevent another war [illegible] be continued because war takes so much from them. Women could help enormously if, when they hear [illegible] terms of such efforts as the San Francisco Conference, they would, instead of repeating [illegible], inform themselves on the subject and then try to help educate other people to the truth. It [illegible] easy to take someone else's opinion instead of finding out for themselves. But women can educate themselves and help to spread that education."

Obviously Lady Halifax's role as chatelaine of the British Embassy is quite different from that of peacetime. Today much of her time is taken up with Red Cross work. There is no formal entertaining but, because of the wide contacts of the Ambassador and Lady Halifax in many parts of the world, and because of the importance of Britain's Washington mission, the four guest rooms are always occupied and there are always at least four or five guests at meals.

Of course the Embassy has the same food problems as any other household in this country, although Lady Halifax minimizes them because of the abundance of eggs, fish, vegetables, fruit, macaroni and rice. However, the Ambassador's favorite food—chicken—is definitely on the scarce list, but he settles cheerfully for his second choice, which is an omelette.

And, of course, there is a servant problem, too. A butler who has stayed on through the years provides continuity to the household staff, but footmen have given way to maids, the gardener drives the car, and, as I left, a young girl opened the door for me.

I put one final question to Lady Halifax. It was a personal question to a woman from whom the war has taken one son, to whom the war returned another without legs, and is keeping a third son in the armed services: what could she say of comfort to those who have lost loved ones in the conflict?

Her voice was steady as she said, "one should feel thankful looking back on these young lives because they did have so much that was good and happy—be thankful for that. Self pity makes you sad—you grieve not for them but for yourself. Obviously their lives have not been wasted, for they have been given for something worthwhile."

Tag Day Nets $2,150

THE sum of $2,150 was realized by the tag day conducted by the Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday. All funds will be used to furnish public wards of the new Maternity Pavilion now under construction. Funds set aside by the W.A. for this purpose are now [illegible] results of tagging Mrs P R Brown, convener, said the auxiliary was grateful to the many organizations and individuals who had assisted. Several $5 and $10 bills were found in taggers' boxes, donated by grateful patients.

Headquarters Fund

Girl Guides of Victoria are campaigning for a Guide headquarters and hope to raise the sum of $10,000 for this cause, Mrs. D. Abraham announced yesterday. Donations may be left at Gordon's Limited, 1012 Government Street.

Hardships of France Told In Letter to Relatives

A story of suffering and courage is contained in a letter dated Paris, February 12, 1945, and received by a member of the Comite des Francais Libres, Vancouver. The letter, of which the following are excerpts, was read at the last meeting of the Children of France Society by Mrs [illegible]

"People are short of everything, they feel the pangs of hunger and cold. Some do not leave their beds in order to save their strength, and the Germans have taken their clothing and shoes."

"There is much misery and distress everywhere: no milk, no coffee, no chocolate, no soap and no fuel. Upon the threshold of each Winter one is certain that one will not survive, but one does. Keeping up the health of children is the greatest [illegible] girl, seven, have flabby muscles and weakened eyesight. For my own part, I had an operation recently. The trouble started with pains in my back and spine, and is now in my foot, bones and teeth have been breaking from lack of minerals. I have become demineralized."

"But the Boches have left at last, after doing unutterable harm to France physically and morally. One cousin, 50 years old, who was pushed by a dirty Boche, had his arm broken by the fall, three years ago. The bones are not mended yet. And my brother, who was a hero of the First World War, and a commander of a tank corps in 1939-40, was so [illegible] prisoner that he was set free.

"He joined the French underground, was caught by the Gestapo in 1944, and thrown into a dungeon where he has not only been denied food and clothing but also light. The father of five children, he is deprived of direct communication with his family. This information was received through Switzerland and the International Red Cross."

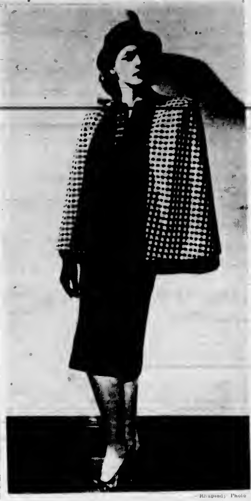
Milady Chooses Dramatic Three-Piece



—Rhapsody Photo

THIS dramatic three-piece ensemble was one of the outstanding fashions shown at Chicago's "Fashion Rhapsody," presented last week by The Chicago Daily News. It illustrates the good lines, the expert tailoring and the wearability of styles made on this continent. In a becoming dark color, the two-piece suit, with high neckline, is an essential basic, and the checked cap. is high-style. The modified sailor completes a perfect costume.

The Chicago styles starred in "Fashion Rhapsody" are designed primarily for everyday needs of everyday people. Superb workmanship, fine materials and a youthful look characterize them.

Girl Guides Hear Mrs. Nancy Hodges

"O you wise men who will reconstruct the world, give us the young. Do what you will with the world, only give us the young. It is the dreams we teach them, it is the Utopias which we conceive for them, it is the thoughts which we think for them, which will rebuild the world. Give us the young before the evil has held them, and we will create a new heaven and a new earth." These words, composed originally by Benjamin Kidd, and used in a book written by the late Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell, were quoted by Mrs Nancy Hodges M.L.A., at the Saturday afternoon session of the Girl Guide provincial annual meeting, held in the Memorial Hall.

In an address on "Youth," Mrs Hodges stressed the importance of a willingness to work and finish the job. She spoke of the readjustment which will be needed in the postwar era and the training which must be given the youth of today. "The great evil in the world today is selfishness," she declared "and the antidote to selfishness is service."

Mrs. A J Moxon spoke of "Guiding in Great Britain and Ireland," giving the following figures: "103,000 Guides have joined since the outbreak of war in 1939. 503,000 girls have gone camping with the Guides. 92,916 pounds were collected, and the girls have done magnificent work in allotment gardens."

Miss Hilda Leighton spoke on "Guiding in Europe," where 18 countries have a full membership in the world bureau. Mrs Dorothy Abraham chose as her subject "Guiding in the Dominions," mentioning especially the accomplishments in South Africa and Australia. Miss N Hannah spoke on "The Guide International Service." She said that Canada hopes to have its own training shortly. Mrs Alan Morkill was chairman.

In the evening a campfire was held at Memorial Hall.

How Dentistry Can Improve a Child's Profile!

This girl's undershot chin was spoiling her looks. Her lower teeth extended far beyond the uppers ... and could not meet properly. However, with modern dental treatments it was possible to correct her undershot chin ... bring her teeth and jaw back into normal position and improve her looks. Problems of Working Mother Before British Committee

LONDON, April 7 (CP) A long-term policy which aims at an expanding economy and greater opportunity as well as greater security is needed if there is to be a reversal of the trend toward small families in Britain, says the Standing Joint Committee of Working Women's Organizations.

The committee submitted written evidence to the Royal Commission on Population, which has spent some months investigating circumstances behind the falling birthrate.

"The only way in which the working mother can ease the burden of work and obtain some leisure is to have fewer children," said its brief.

"Labor-saving equipment has been greatly developed between the two wars, but has always been too costly for the great majority of women. Almost the only devices within their reach were the tin and the tin-opener.

"In a period when nearly every section of workers was enjoying improved conditions through trade union and parliamentary action, those who were engaged in the biggest single occupation in the country—that of working housewife and mother—began to buy a little leisure with the tin opener and birth control.

"If this has led to unfortunate results for the community, the community must bear the blame for its neglect of the work of the home."

LARGE FAMILIES SCORNED

The committee said fear of war and fear of childbirth are unimportant factors in the decline of the birthrate. Scorn of the large family was listed as one reason for parents having fewer children.

"As the family of one or two children has become normal there has been a tendency to regard the family of several children with a mixture of pity and amusement, and parents had to face not only increased financial worry, but the scorn of others who 'knew better than that.'

"It is regrettable that the attitude of officials and members of some public authorities frequently encouraged this attitude. Parents with several children who were compelled to seek maintenance from public funds had to bear not only the injury of prolonged unemployment, but insults from members of committees and investigating officers for having too many children."

Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter met at headquarters this week with Mrs. D. J. Mugford in the chair. The treasurer reported $295.75 balance in the bank. War convener reported ten pairs of socks made and asked for 11-inch squares for afghans. Two dozen turtleneck sweaters will be purchased. The chapter agreed to adopt a small ship. City Council has granted permission to hold heather tag day on August 25. Mrs Lincoln Smith was elected chief councillor; Mrs. F. O. Mulliner, flower convener, Mrs. W. C. Moresby, library convener. The regent and standard-bearer will attend the annual meeting in Vancouver. Mrs E. T. Stuckey was welcomed as a new member.

Gypsy Operetta to Aid Arena Fund

Combining dramatic singing and dancing talent, nearly 100 students of Central Junior High School are in the final week of rehearsal for the two-act operetta, "The White Gypsy." Two performances of the colorful production will be given in aid of the Civic Arena and school fund at the Victoria High School Auditorium on Thursday and Friday, April 12 and 13, at 8 p.m.

The operetta tells the romantic story of a princess who was taken into a tribe of wandering gypsies when her father's throne was usurped by his brother. Disguised as a gypsy, she shares their adventures and a gypsy prince helps her oust the usurper.

Jan Olsen plays the gypsy prince, Eve Harvey the prince's mother, Helena Hawkin, Koma, grandmother. The White Gypsy is played by Pamela Newton, the "King" by Beverley Jones, the usurper by Raymond Orchard, while the part of the gypsy chief is taken by Shagat Singh.

The musical score which was written by G. A. Grant-Shaefer is based on Brahms and authentic Hungarian gypsy music, while the libretto was written by Theodosia Paynter.

Guest speaker at Friday night's meeting of the Central Baptist Intermediate Girls' Fellowship was Dorothy Harrison. She took for her topic "Soldiers of Christ." A story, "Pass to Free China," was read by Kay MacLam preceding the message.

Midway Symbol Of Pacific War

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—The [illegible] aircraft carrier Midway, biggest United States warship afloat, is a symbol of the future course of the navy's war in the Pacific.

The 45,000-ton ship, launched last month at Newport News, Va., packs more punch and greater ability to take punishment than any other carrier. Two sister ships, the Coral Sea and another unnamed, will be along shortly, and no doubt there will be more.

On the basis of developments to date, Rear Admiral John H Cassady, assistant deputy chief of naval operations for air, said in an interview today, the pattern of the navy's future role in the Pacific obviously is one of encirclement and strangulation of the enemy.

Fleet Admiral Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander, and others have made it plain that the effectiveness of the final assault against the heart of Japan is dependent to a great [illegible] which the assault can be mounted. Carrier-based aviation must carry the ball in the preliminary softening-up process on new fronts before land forces secure an area from which land-based planes may operate.

That is the role the Midway and her sisters are destined to fill.

Flow of Goods Not to Be Cut

PORTLAND, Ore., April 7 (AP)—The flow of goods from the Pacific Coast ports to Russia will not be cut by the U.S.S.R.'s abandonment of the Japanese neutrality pact, a War Shipping Administration official said today.

George Powell, assistant W.S.A. Pacific Coast director, said the volume of Soviet-bound shipments from the Columbia River—particularly Portland and Longview—would be unchanged.

"Nor do I expect the Russian action to have any effect on any other Pacific Coast port," Powell said.

WINNIPEG, April 7 (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board announced today a prohibition against importation or unloading into any terminal elevator at 18 Canadian ports wheat, oats, barley, corn or rye shipped from any United States port until further notice.

The ports specified were Port McNicoll, Midland, Midland-Tiffin, Goderich, Collingwood, Sarnia, Owen Sound, Walkerville, Port Colborne, Humberstone, Toronto, Kingston and Prescott in Ontario and Montreal, Sorel, Quebec City and Three Rivers in Quebec.

The board said the move had been taken to conserve available railway equipment and prevent a congestion of facilities required for movement of grain overseas.

the front by front situation in what the Germans themselves called "the battle of decision."

The Canadian First Army fanned out 35 miles south of the North Sea, cutting road after road on the diked lowlands of Holland which two hemmed-in German armies must have for attack or retreat.

Allied planes clamped an aerial seal-off on the 19-mile lane of retreat running up around the Zuider [illegible] dam, roaring out of the clouds and pounding everything that moved.

Tough British parachute troops drove 12 miles beyond the Weser River to a point 20 miles west of Hannover, the city which gave them England's present royal dynasty.

The United States Ninth Army, besides outflanking Hannover in a drive 140 miles west of Berlin, crashed 13 miles through the roof of the Ruhr pocket, knocking out Soest—a city 16 miles southeast of fallen Hamm which the 125,000 trapped Germans had converted into a keystone for their stand-and-die defence.

The United States First Army, while knocking in the sides of the Ruhr pocket from east and south, turned on its main power once more toward Berlin and crossed the Weser 160 miles west of the Reich's capital. It was swinging up to or across the Weser on a 35-mile front.

The United States Third Army rammed a second armored spearhead 130 miles southwest of Berlin and from its menacing positions 165 miles east of the Rhine was building up power swiftly for renewed blows.

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, April 7 (CP).—Along the Ems River and the Dortmund-Ems Canal at Meppen, vital communications centre, troops of the 4th Canadian Armored Division late today were trying to force a crossing of these two obstacles to further their eastward progress into Northwest Germany.

The Germans are putting up a fight in this area to prevent the Canadians, who cleared Meppen under heavy fire, from making the crossings to roads leading to the cities of Emden, Wilhelmshaven—scene of the first R.A.F. bombing in this war—Oldenburg and Bremen. Along the Twente Canal sector troops of the 2nd Canadian Division made slight advances toward the Deventer-Almelo Highway and four miles west of Almelo the 4th Division was fighting in Wierden which has not yet been cleared. The 3rd Division still was about a mile from Deventer and was fighting also in Zutphen.

On the Arnhem front it was quiet. A 20-mile smokescreen was laid by a Canadian unit along the southern bank of the Neder Rhine "island" between Nijmegen and Arnhem.

The weather turned bright and the 84th Group of the Tactical Air Force was flying all day in support of the Canadian Army faced now with the task of cleaning up the Germans who have been left in North Holland.

It was not a large force the Germans left behind but the Germans apparently intend to make a stand along the sections of the Ijssel River. They have little chance of getting away to Germany for nearly all communications have been cut and supply lines are practically non-existent.

Meppen was cleared by 4th Division troops, fighting against German counter-attacks and under heavy artillery and mortar fire.

FIRE AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, April 7 (CP)—Fire swept through the Atereth Israel Synagogue in North Winnipeg yesterday 48 hours after a blaze destroyed the House of A-kanas Synagogue in the same district. Fire department officials believe the outbreak was caused by coals or sparks falling from a heater. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

The London Letter

By GLANVILLE CAREW
British United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Do you ever go to auction sales of household goods? Yes? In that case you will have noticed that everything to be disposed of is listed in a catalogue and bears a stick-on label with a corresponding number. That applies to everything, from the show piece, "Lot 20. Twelve fine genuine Chippendale chairs" down to the domestic sweepings, as it were, "Lot No. 200, one coal scoop, one frying pan, one soap dish, seven gallipots."

So much for labelled household chattels. What of us—the people—who are in course of becoming labelled state chattels? Or some of us think we are.

There are some 46 millions of us in this United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and, with the exception of those who are under the age of 16 years, every Jack and Jill is catalogued and numbered. Just as in the case of auction lots, that applies to all, from the human show pieces to the "sweepings"—from the dukes to the scavengers.

The powers-that-be, however, could not think of any satisfactory way to stick labels on us, so they reversed things. They gave us all Identity Cards (and numbers) and sternly enjoined us to stick to them.

Since then there has on occasion been quite a considerable amount of argument about these cards and the system, and a good deal of discussion is going on now. The point is, are we to be required to carry such cards after the war ends or shall we be at liberty to throw them into our waste paper baskets when peace comes and forget them and all they stood for.

NEWSPAPER'S UNOFFICIAL POLL

It can hardly be doubted which way bureaucracy would lean, but it was in order to explore the public mind on the question that one of those unofficial polls which are so fashionable nowadays was organised the other day under the aegis of a great newspaper.

The question put was this: "After the war, do you think that the Identity Card system should be abolished or not?"

It can be assumed with confidence that it was very carefully seen to that the selected body of persons to whom the question was put included all sorts and conditions of men and women, so that the replies should be reasonably representative of the views of the public as a whole. Only on that assumption is the result worth consideration. The polling was: For abolition, 42 per cent.; for retention, 56 per cent; "don't know," 2 per cent.

I deduce from the tenor of its remarks on that result that the sponsor newspaper itself was, like many people, somewhat taken aback by the result of the poll. I will quote it verbatim:

"The result of the . . . investigation shows that there is a need for clear explanation of the menace of identity cards. Except as a wartime measure the system is intolerable. It is un-British. It opens the way to an unnecessary check on the daily life of every person in the state. It turns every village policeman into a Gestapo agent. It can put the law-abiding citizen in the same row of filing cabinets as the common thief with a record. It has already created a new underworld industry of faking, stealing and selling identity cards.

"It eases the path of those who seek compulsory direction of labor."

In the absence of evidence, I, as one of the 46 millions of jurymen, find it difficult to judge the weight of the various counts of that indictment. Surely, however, if what appears to be its most damning count—that the identity card system is "un-British"—can be supported the objectors need not proceed on the minor counts. They can rest their case. The system is un-British, ergo it is both damned and damnable. Q.E.D.—and that's that.

STRANGER ALWAYS SUSPECTED

Nevertheless, let us look for a moment at one or two of the minor counts. The village policeman knows his villagers with or without identity cards and a stranger—a "foreigner"—is always suspect in an English village anyway.

As to the charge that the identity card system may put the law-abiding citizen into the filing cabinet as thieves with records, well, even so, would that matter? Although a "holier-than-thou" Pharisees would be annoyed, might not a thief be redeemed by association—if only in a filing cabinet—with the recordless righteous?

The charge that the system has already created an industry of faking, stealing and selling identity cards has great force, although perhaps it might be levelled more directly against the form of the card which the vast majority of us carry rather than against the system in the abstract. I say the majority of us because, for various reasons, a comparatively small minority have a special form of card. My own card, for instance, gives my full names and address, date and place of birth, a space for distinguishing marks, if any, my registration number, photograph and signature. It is in fact a card which identifies. On the other hand, the cards borne by most of the population do not identify—though, of course, they provide data for enquiry if need be. So would a visiting card.

The ordinary identity cards borne by the ordinary man and woman show nothing more than a registration number, address and signature. No photograph, no date or place of birth. There is no indication of sex, no sort of physical description. So far as the face of it goes it might have been issued to any John Brown or Mary Smith in the country. Even sex is not invariably indicated by a Christian name.

In such conditions it is not surprising to learn that scores of thousands of people—the estimates run up to about half a million—contrive to get along and get rations with the aid of forged or stolen or found cards.

Forestry in Britain

LONDON (BUP).—Forestry will be taken a great deal more seriously by the Government after the war, declared the Earl of Selborne, replying for the Government in the House of Lords to a forestry debate.

It was important, he said, that the country should realize its obligations to private owners.

"Had it not been for them there would have been no timber for this or the First Great War." Private owners had had little encouragement from the State.

Between the wars the Government spent four times as much on overhead charges for State forestry as they paid in grants to private owners. Private acreage in 1939 was six times as great as State acreage whose timber was not matured ready for this war.

Films for Schools

LONDON (BUP).—British educational officials are currently working on plans for a world pool of school films to put education on the screen in all United Kingdom classrooms after the war.

A central film library is to be established wherein will be stored films on geography, economics, history and other subjects. And actual battle newsreels will also be shown school children in the interests of world peace.

Languages in the postwar educational system in Britain will be taught by film rather than by the present textbook methods. A film of life in Quebec, or Ontario, or any other Canadian province might be exchanged by air for, say, a film on rural life in Britain.

Race Problems Reviewed

CAPETOWN (CP).—A fixed policy to maintain white supremacy is agreed on by all parties in South Africa except those "quite mad," Prime Minister Jan C Smuts told the Union Parliament in a review of the race problem.

Commenting on Opposition Leader Malan's query as to whether "there will eventually still be a white race in South Africa," Mr. Smuts said the fear motive must be eliminated in discussing the problem. For the past 300 years Europeans in South Africa had remained racially apart from the natives and he could see no reason why any sudden change in this attitude should come about now.

The kernel of the whole situation lay in mixed residential areas, Mr. Smuts said. New residential areas and new villages were being created where whites and negroes were kept apart so that within one or two generations there would be a "general sorting out and cleaning up of the whole situation."

This was the policy the Government stood for, the Premier said.

The Indian question was the most difficult, he added. In Cape Province mixed residential areas abounded. Mr. Smuts said 100,000 Europeans and 100,000 Indians lived "cheek by jowl" in Durban alone. The Natal provincial council's adoption of ordinances for separate Indian areas offered a solution, but some of the ordinances were reported ultra vires. The Government hopes to introduce legislation this session amending the housing act to enable the legal setting aside of separate residential areas.

Opposition Leader Malan said 100,000 non-Europeans in the armed forces would demand equal rights as a result of their sacrifices. Communism was being allowed free play in the union and natives were flooding into urban areas. Non-Europeans were penetrating universities, schools and trade unions, Mr. Malan said, and a non-European front was being formed which was a challenge to the white race.

Beauty Aids Assist

SYDNEY, N.S.W. (BUP).—Australians still are suffering shortages of brilliantine, hair cream and perfume, while New Guinea natives are being supplied the "beauty aids" which are not available to Australian servicemen or civilians.

The luxuries are supplied the natives to maintain morale among them, since, officials say, the blacks play an important part in the army's plans.

Officials say that the natives work much better when given brilliantine, perfume, peroxide and similar things.

May Start Industry

SYDNEY, Australia (CP).—Revival of the whaling industry off the New South Wales coast has been recommended to the Federal Government by the Australian Agricultural Council.

The council envisages the production of 4,000 tons of dehydrated whale meat, 1,000 tons of meat meal and 1,000 tons of organic fertilizer a year.

Crime on Increase

LONDON, Eng. (BUP).—The chief constable of East Suffolk, Lieutenant-Colonel A. F. Senior told the county standing joint committee that crime had increased by 300 per cent since 1938, while the number of indictable offences last year was 1,988, the highest total ever recorded in the county.

Youths under 17 were responsible for nearly one-third of all crimes.

Feeding Garden Vegetables

4-4
IN A SMALL GARDEN, PLANT FOOD CAN BE BROADCAST IN A STRIP 6 INCHES WIDE, USING A LARGE SALT SHAKER
IN LARGER GARDENS USE WATERING CAN TO APPLY PLANT FOOD DRY OR IN SOLUTION

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

If you expect your Victory garden to help feed you and your family you, in turn, must feed the Victory vegetables. A well-balanced plant food is needed for the Victory vegetable garden. Manure is difficult for many home gardeners to obtain so most of us depend upon commercial fertilizer.

For early radishes, lettuce and beans apply food at the time the seed bed is prepared and work it well into the soil. The rate of application should be four pounds per 100 square feet or one rounded tablespoonful per square foot in the small Victory garden.

The accompanying gardengraph shows an easy practical method of applying plant food in the very small Victory garden as well as in a larger one.

Where early vegetables are grown in rows use two pounds of plant food for each 50 feet of row. When the soil is prepared apply the plant food in a strip approximately six inches wide and then rake it into the top soil before planting the seed.

For plants grown in hills or transplanted mix a level tablespoonful of plant food thoroughly with the soil in the bottom of the hill and cover with one inch of soil before seeding or setting out plants.

For long-growing vegetables such as tomatoes, cabbage, celery and peppers use plant food at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet of planting area when [illegible] prepared. Then feed a heaping teaspoonful per square foot every six weeks.

April Garden Notes

By W. H. WARREN
Victoria Horticultural Society

Any vegetable overlooked last month may still be sown—onions. Sow carrots and leeks also. Try to prevent excessive production and waste of vegetables such as spinach, peas, lettuce and beets by making successive sowings at two-week intervals and strictly limiting the running feet of rows devoted to each crop. Corn, beans and potatoes are best planted towards the end of April, early potatoes at once if you have a sheltered prepared place for them. Sprouts, Winter cabbage, broccoli and Fall cauliflower should be sown now. Put out early cabbage and cauliflower plants. Side dress established plants with ammo-phos or 8-10-5 garden fertilizer. Too many gardeners fail to keep up the fertility of their soil because they believe it is not necessary since they got a satisfactory crop last year. What they often fail to recollect are the good old days when they first gardened the area and how the crops have gradually dwindled since then. Yes, fertility is necessary. It is not too late to apply two to three pounds per 100 square feet over the whole area at planting time and rake into the soil before planting seeds. Sow lawns now. We note MacFarlane's Garden Diary recommends four parts N.Z. fescue to one part bent grass. This is as good a mixture as any. Since bent is very fine, this will probably give a 50-50 stand of both kinds of grass. Beware droughts in April and May, particularly on light soil and where seed has been sown. Keep ahead of pests and weeds with sprayer and hoe. Brassicas should be treated with corrosive sublimate before they are attacked by the cabbage root maggot. Treat earwigs with bait and slugs with Corry's Slug Death.

Roses—Should be carefully watched for early infestations of aphis and leaf hoppers. Aphis will be found in the opening leafy terminals of the young shoots. Later both the leaf hoppers and aphis take to the under sides of the leaves. To prevent black spot, mildew and other diseases which spoil attractive foliage of the modern rose it is essential to start early and spray regularly with a good fungicide to constantly keep a "film of protection" on the leaves to prevent the disease from starting. It is a case of prevention rather than cure and it is the easiest and safest way of handling the situation.

Flowers—Stagger the planting dates of gladioli if you wish to extend the season for cut flowers. Plant dahlias and watch for earwig injury. Delphiniums can be propagated from three-inch or four-inch shoots cut off the root at this season. Protect from slug injury. Petunias, tagetes, marigolds and zinnias probably are amongst the best annuals for Victoria, but why not try some of the lesser known ones this year just for the sake of broadening our horticultural knowledge?

Sweet Peas—To tell how one has succeeded with sweet peas is one thing, but to recommend the same method down to the finest detail as being the way to do it, regardless of other people's garden conditions is foolishness. There is a time of sowing and planting when seed and plants will yield the most favorable results. There are also soil mixtures and methods of pruning and handling which are known to be successful but one point we wish to make is that despite mistakes Nature seldom lets you down if you co-operate with her. A crop sown at the optimum time may be 100 per cent successful. Sown three weeks later results may be only 80 per cent but even at that one is still probably well repaid for doing it despite the delay. Translated into practical terms it means that one may obtain reasonably good results despite the fact that conditions may be below optimum if ordinary intelligence is applied. For instance, broad beans are best sown in the Fall or February, but do not hesitate to sow in April if only thing to remember is that the beans are more likely to be attacked by aphis because of their season being extended into the warmer months. Sweet peas, too, may be sown late, but they do better with an early start and like to grow under humid and comparatively cool conditions. So we could go down the list. On the other hand, Brussels sprouts sown late, say in June, often do not mature well. This is probably because of unfavorably warm growing conditions and insufficient time in which to make vegetable growth before cool weather occurs during which the sprout heads naturally form. What we have said also does not apply to the sprays and fertilizers, for here we are dealing with chemicals which have a precise action and we must be careful to use them exactly according to directions. These remarks are not to be interpreted as encouraging slovenliness or carelessness, but rather to encourage timid gardeners to step out. So when we read precise recommendations for gardening accompanied by many "thou shalts" and "thou shalt nots" we can smile inwardly in the knowledge that in all probability the writer has not that intimate knowledge of Mother Nature that is so essential to good gardening.

Use Certified Seed Potatoes

(Experimental Farms News)

The potato is a cool climate plant, and does best where the mean Summer temperature is relatively low, and where ample soil moisture is available during the growing season. Certain soils should be avoided as they lack the necessary physical and chemical qualities. Neutral or alkaline soils or soils producing scabby potatoes should not be selected, or heavy poorly drained clay or clay loam soils with a tight subsoil, or poor tilth, as such soils are likely to produce a light crop of ill-shapen tubers, says R. G. Newton, Dominion Experimental Station, Prince George, B.C. The soil if possible should be Fall ploughed and well worked in the Spring and fertilized if needed with a complete fertilizer such as 4-12-6 or 2-16-6, using from 300 to 500 pounds per acre drilled into the row with the sets. For the main crop, planting from May 15 to 24 will be found satisfactory, at a depth of two to three inches and spacing the sets in the rows from 12 to 15 inches apart and the rows at least three feet apart. If real early potatoes are wanted, it may be possible to plant earlier and to sprout the tuber after treating, but this is more applicable to small gardens. Cultivation should commence as soon as the tuber sprout appears through the ground, and cultivation and gradual hilling-up should continue as necessary.

The importance of good seed stock is recognized as one of the important factors in potato production. Certified seed stocks of recognized and proved varieties are now available and even the small grower will find it to his advantage to know that his seed is reasonably free from virus and pathological diseases to enable him to produce crops that will yield the highest.

The potato should be treated before cutting into sets using Mercuric chloride, or some organic mercury compound, taking care to follow the instructions carefully as mercury compounds are deadly poison and extreme care must be taken in handling them. The sets may be cut one to two ounces in size and should be planted soon after treating and cutting. Where late blight is experienced the necessary spraying with Bordeaux mixture or dusting with copper dusts is indicated, and where the Colorado potato beetle is troublesome arsenical sprays or dusts should be used.

In planting minimum widths between rows range from 12 inches for narrow things as lettuce, radish, carrots, beets, to 15 inches for beans and peas, to 18 inches for corn, tomatoes and potatoes.

Canadian Garden Service, 1945

By GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

There is such a thing as keeping a garden too trim and neat, say the weed and bit of grass and getting rid of these via the garbage pail or a bonfire. The proper way to dispose of such material is to dig it under, where it rots down and becomes incorporated with the soil, adding plant food and moisture-absorbing humus. Ploughing or digging in the Spring and turning all such refuse under is the proper method.

This ploughing or digging is also important on its own account. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on preliminary cultivation, either in the vegetable or flower garden. It is much easier to destroy weed growth, and especially persistent things like twitch grass and sow thistle, by cultivating thoroughly before seeds are sown. Much back-breaking labor in weeding can be saved later on and the mechanical condition of the soil will be improved.

FIRST PLANTINGS

Just as soon as the soil is fit to work, one can and should start a few rows of the hardiest vegetables. In this way the garden will pay maximum returns, as with a bit of luck radishes, lettuce, spinach, beets and carrots, if sown at the earliest possible moment, will be ready for eating weeks ahead of those planted later.

This does not mean, of course, that all the vegetable garden should be planted at this time. There are certain hot weather things like tomatoes, corn, beans and the cucumbers, to mention only a few, which will not stand any frost. Then again it is strongly advisable to string out the planting of the early vegetables so that harvesting too may be strung out. One can go on planting carrots, beets and beans and corn, for instance, until after the first of July in most of Canada and thus create a succession of crops, always at their best and always coming on right up until the first hard Autumn frost.

A KITCHEN GARDEN

The old-fashioned kitchen garden had a lot to recommend it. This is the small plot of ground, perhaps only 20 feet square, right at the door. In this position it is handy, especially when one wants to get a few onions or lettuce in a hurry, and it is an amazing thing how much produce one can grow in such a space.

As a mater of fact, for the average smaller gardener it is best to grow beets, beans, lettuce, radish, carrots, etc., in rows close together in a kitchen garden of this kind than in longer rows out in the main garden. The latter, of course, is used for big bulky crops like corn, potatoes and peas, and possibly the main crops of beans, but the heavily planted often cultivated kitchen plot, near the house, is an ideal location for the other stuff. Located close to the house one can often spend odd minutes in cultivating and weeding when it would not be practical to make a trip out into the big garden. Whenever possible, this kitchen garden should be located where it can be watered in very dry weather.

PLANNING WILL HELP

When space is extremely limited, planning is even more vital, because it saves room.

Alternate quick maturing things like radish, lettuce and spinach with longer maturing or larger growing vegetables such as Swiss chard, beets, carrots and beans. The first named will be up and used before the latter require all the space.

To Establish Factory

INDIA (BUP).—The Government of India has decided to establish a state-owned and state-controlled factory to manufacture 350,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia annually. The factory will be situated near a coal producing area in Bihar Province where it may be possible to develop subsidiary industries.

SKUNKS A SURPRISE

SYDNEY, Australia (CP).—Announcement that Canada was sending a pair of deodorized skunks to world-famed Taronga Park Zoo, overlooking Sydney Harbor, came as a real surprise to folks down under. Interested newspapermen quickly called on the Zoo for confirmation.

Suggestions for Those Planning to Build

If you are going to build a new house the first man you should approach is a good architect—perhaps one who has designed another house you like and know to be well built.

After your new home has reached the blueprint stage you have two choices. First and best is to have your architect follow through with the supervision of construction so that the responsibilities are than all his to see to it that you are delivered a house according to the blueprints and specifications. Second, is to take your architect's blueprints to a reliable builder—a man who can safely carry you through the homebuilding experience.

It makes little difference to your builder whether you construct a large or small home. His compensation is based on the time and effort a structure requires of him. Small homes take less time and they involve less financial risk. Many builders prefer to build them in large numbers on a modest percentage.

A builder or a contractor is an individual who gathers together for your convenience in one person the functions of many different trades and operations. The process of determining the price of a home is one of carefully checking the materials and labor operations of these trades.

There are many qualities and prices for each operation. Someone has to make the decision as to just which grade material shall be used for a certain place in the house and how the work shall be done. It is the answer to this question repeated many times which determines the final cost estimate of your home.

If you can take the time to give your builder exact information as to your requirements and wishes there will be no reason for him to make guesses and decisions which might unnecessarily boost the cost of the house. In lieu of specific information it is natural for the builder to estimate sufficiently high to cover all contingencies.

If you want more house for your dollar help your builder by outlining to him the full amount of the monthly payment which your budget should stand and the amount you can originally invest. Ask plenty of questions—make sure that you understand each other perfectly before you permit him to bid.

Make sure, before a detailed cost estimate and bid is made, that the design you have selected is within the general range you wish. Your builder or lumber dealer can tell you this.

Don't despair if the first estimate on the house you want exceeds your cost limit. Go over the plan and the specifications step by step with the builder. Every house built is a compromise. Remember that slight changes in the requirements which cut the cost of each item 5 per cent all along the line may make as much as $1,000 difference in the total cost.

Avoid making your builder gamble. If he is sure of his ground and has full knowledge of exactly what is required of him he will help you get a good house for a small amount of money. He will not try to profiteer.

Change your mind before you start the building job—not during it. Have all the "pros and cons" talked out before the building materials arrive at the site.

Helpful Hints for Home Repairs

For those who are anxious to improve their properties and their conditions the suggestions listed as follows may open a way for a planned program of work. No home however well-looked after, does not need some of this work done.

Check the painting of the exterior siding, trim, the cornice, columns, windows and doors; stain shingles, paint all exposed sheet metal and metal work (except zinc, aluminum or copper). Whitewash or paint brick, cement or stucco.

Cover old walls and ceilings with wallboard, remove superfluous bric-a-brac (make your home as modern-appearing as possible). Install partitions for attic rooms—you can often add two or three productive rooms to your house that way. Refinish walls and ceilings. Patch defective laths and plaster. Paint and refinish interior wood and cabinets. Paint or paper plaster or wallboard walls and ceilings. Remember, there's nothing more unsightly inside a home than torn or dirty walls and ceilings.

Many Victoria Schools Enter Plays for Drama Festival

Commencing on Monday, April 23 and continuing throughout the week, the schools of Greater Victoria will engage in a mammoth display of dramatic talent. In that week members of the school drama classes will present a festival of one-act plays before adjudicator Ross A. Lort, C.D.A., of Vancouver.

The festival, commenced five years ago as an added incentive of students enrolling in the school drama classes, has shown continuous growth, and officials say this year's presentation bids fair to surpass all previous ones. Twenty-eight entries have been received by Major L. Bullock-Webster, director of the school and community drama branch of the Department of Education.

The festival is strictly non-competitive, but the plays will be criticized by Adjudicator Lort after each evening and afternoon performance. The plays will be held in various school centres to be announced next week. Promoters of the festival hope that the general public will give support to the school children in their efforts.

School Drama Week will terminate Saturday night, April 28, with an honor performance to be held at the High School auditorium. On that evening a bill of finely contrasting one-act plays will be presented; two of the outstanding plays of the festival as chosen by the adjudicator, and a third play chosen from the better ones seen in the recent school festival. The play imported is John Oliver High School's, "Scenes From Tom Sawyer." Proceeds from this final night are used to enable deserving students of the city schools to attend the Summer school courses in drama at the Banff School of Fine Arts, sponsored by the University of Alberta.

Among the schools entering plays in the giant festival are Oak Bay High School, two plays. Willows School, two plays; Margaret Jenkins School, George Jay School; Victoria High School, three plays; St Louis College, Quadra School, Central Junior High School, two plays, Mt. Douglas School, Mount View High School, two plays; Tolmie School; Oaklands School, two plays, Cedar Hill School; Esquimalt High School; North Saanich High School; Sir James Douglas School, Duncan High School, two plays; Qualicum Beach School, and St. Margaret's School.

Shoulder Strap Full Of Police Adventures

Full of the frontier flavor of British Columbia, the 13th edition of The Shoulder Strap, official organ of the Provincial Police, has just been issued.

Almost every section of the province is mentioned in this magazine which is packed with tales of adventure found only in activities of such groups as the police of this province.

The lead story deals with Burke and Hare, the ill-famed dealers in death who enriched their coffers by selling cadavers to medical students in the early days. Other stories and articles describe police work in the solving of crimes in British Columbia, and an outline of the big game prospects in this province.

The entire publication breathes the atmosphere of the vast hinterland which makes up this Pacific Coast, and readers will be able to identify many of the districts mentioned.

Recent changes in police personnel and up-to-the-minute legal news of British Columbia feature the current issue of The Shoulder Strap.

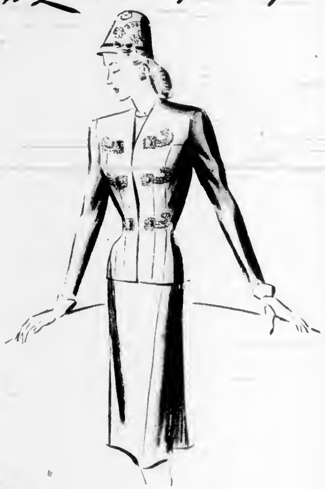
You Look Like Spring

You will feel like Spring, too, in one of our After Easter Dressmaker Suits made of light weight pure wool suitings that level themselves to tailored technique, yet are soft and cool. Spring calls for a suit that is different, inspiring and, above all, becoming. The one we have sketched is in the new creamy beige shade. Soft, rounded shoulders give the jacket a quality that defies classification, so that it can be worn for spectator sports, cocktails and dinner.



Everyone wants a light weight coat for after Easter to be worn right into Summer — an individual coat to wear with everything. This can be full length coat in dressmaker style or cut in tunic length. It can be as casual as a trench coat or as softly detailed as a dress-up redingote. This one from our collection is in the new shade of bright, sharp turquoise.

USE OF TWO REFEREES WOULD BENEFIT SOCCER

Suggested changes in sports are often subjected to adverse criticism before the plan or proposal is given a fair trial. Frankly, that's exactly what we expect to get from the suggestion which we are going to put forward, that of recommending that two referees be used in all senior soccer fixtures.

We are making the proposal because we feel it would benefit the grand old game of soccer, certainly Victoria's most popular Winter sport at the present time. This is not in the nature of an attack on the present officials, nor is it a revolutionary move. It is, in our opinion, a plan worthy of a fair and proper trial in the interest of the game.

It is not necessary for us to remind soccer fans of the many "beefs" which went up when the substitute rule was first mooted in soccer. The more ardent fans shouted from the rooftops that it would ruin the game and be a detriment instead of a benefit.

The success of any venture is contained in its ability to keep pace with the times. Substitution in soccer is one such move. We are of the opinion that the adoption of the use of substitutes has been beneficial to the game. In the same way we feel that the use of two referees would further assist the sport here. Surely it is worthy of a trial.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MR. AND MRS. WALLY STIPE

Congratulations are in order today for Mr. and Mrs. Wally Stipe, two well-known former athletes, on the birth of their first son, Brian Walter Stipe.

Mrs. Stipe, the former Mary Wells, played basketball with the Cardinals, British Columbia champions, when they were under the guidance of the late Jack Taylor.

Papa Stipe (he's entitled to that now) was a star rugger player a few seasons ago, having performed with the 5th Regiment, J B A A and Victoria Reps. A brilliant scrum half-back, Stipe was captain of the Bays and the Crimson Tide.

Being young and ambitious Wally Stipe is already looking to the day when Brian Walter Stipe, Jr., will be playing Rugby for Victoria. Just as an out-on-the-limb prediction, Papa Stipe figures his son will be playing "rep" Rugby in 1965, and has already laid a wager with yours truly that Victoria will win the McKechnie Cup that year.

Our only hope is that we will be able to stay around long enough to see this become a reality.

HAS BEEN AROUND FOR A LONG TIME

Ernie Field, popular coach of the Black and Whites juvenile soccer team, has been around sports and athletes for a long time.

Just a few days ago we learned that Ernie (that what he gets from all the young athletes) played a part in developing the late Charlie "Chuck" Gardiner, goalie of the Chicago Black Hawks and one of the all time great net custodians in the National Hockey League.

It was back in the 1920-21 season at Winnipeg when Field first became acquainted with the late Chuck Gardiner, then a young fellow recently out from Scotland. Field was coach of the Assiniboia Athletic Club of Winnipeg at that time and Gardiner first donned the skates for the Prairie sextette.

When Gardiner came out to the rink for the first time he could not skate but being a "natural" he soon acquainted himself with the silver blades and the rest was easy," Field said.

Nelson Increases Lead in Golf Meet

Fires Sub-Par 65 to Go Seven Strokes Ahead of Field in Atlanta Tournament

ATLANTA, April 7 (AP)—Byron Nelson fired a 65 today in the $10,000 Iron Lung golf competition and goes into the final round tomorrow with a seven-stroke lead over his nearest competitor, Sammy Byrd, of Redford, Mich.

Byrd finished the third round ahead of Nelson and posted a 66 for a total of 205, but that to the big Texas leader was just like waving a red flag at a bull. He rounded the turn with a 33 and then came down the back nine with a 32 for his 65 and a total of 198 for the 54 holes.

With his three first rounds in the sixties, Nelson was conceded a good chance to crack the record 264 for a 72-hole tournament set some years ago by Craig Wood, duration open champion.

Nelson garnered six birdies in the round and went over par on two holes. Once when he drove more than 300 yards on No. 7 and the ball came to rest in a ditch. His putter was working flawlessly and he one-putted eight greens.

Byrd was almost as good, only the muffing of a one-foot putt on the 14th hole keeping him from carding a 65. Both were making 20-foot putts look easy all day and Nelson canned one 45-footer.

Joe Kirkwood, of Philadelphia, was by himself in third place tonight with 209. He shot a neat one-under-par 68 today.

Sammy Snead, winner of six Winter tournaments to seven for Nelson, finally cracked par with a 68 and was in the fourth spot with 210. Joe Zarhardt, of Morristown, Pa., was fifth with 211. He got a 70 today.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Sanford, Me., also was one under par in the third round and was tied with several others at 212.

Ris Scores Upset Win Over Ford

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Alan Ford, holder of the world record of 49.7 seconds for the 100-yard free style, suffered a stunning defeat tonight when he finished second to Walter Ris, of Bainbridge Naval, at the National A A U indoor swimming championships.

Ris set a new record of 51.3 seconds for the 75-foot New York A C pool in coming from behind to nip Ford by less than half the length of his lunging arm. Ford, former Yale star now at the Columbia Midshipmen School, was timed in 51.5.

The previous pool mark of 51.4 was set in 1941 by Otto Jaretz, of Chicago.

Another Bainbridge triumph was chalked up when the defending champion, Ensign Adolph Kieler, of Bainbridge, who also is world record holder in the event, won the 150-yard backstroke title for the ninth time in 1.33.5.

Ohio State's Keo Nakama, the National A A U outdoor 400, 880 and 1,500 metres champion, who was barred from last week's N C A A meet because he is a post-graduate student, easily took the 440-yard free style event 12 feet before Columbia's Gene Rogers. Nakama, a Hawaiian veteran, was clocked in 4.44.5.

Vancouver to Have $250,000 Stadium

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—A new $250,000 baseball stadium is to be built in Vancouver by Emil Sick brewing interests as soon as a site is found and war conditions permit.

It will not be built on the present Capilano Stadium site, recently damaged by fire.

Civic authorities have refused permission for construction of another wooden structure at present Capilano Park.

North Shore Turns Back St. Andrews

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—North Shore United went back into a tie with St. Saviours at the head of the Coast Soccer League standings by beating St. Andrews, 2-0, today before a crowd of 1,500 fans.

Jimmy Spencer scored the first goal 18 minutes after the start from a penalty kick given against Roy Clarke, St. Andrews left back, for hand. Richie Warren added the second 15 minutes after the interval from a slick pass by Uke Grey.

After winning 16 straight games in as many starts in the District Soccer League, Norvans were held to a 2-2 draw by Collingwood in a rough game here today.

Ill-feeling crept into the game because Collingwood protested the result of their Imperial Cup match with Norvans on Good Friday on account of [illegible] time being played. Norvans won that game 2-1 but Collingwood's protest was [illegible] and the game ordered replayed.

Despite their draw, Norvans are still [illegible] point ahead of H M C S Discovery, who blanked Boeings 3-0 at Prince Edward Park today. Coquitlam downed Pro-Rec Rangers 5-2 at McBride Park in the other league game.

Edmonton Cage Squad Takes Second Fixture

Defeats Vancouver Hedlunds, 45-41, to Tie Canadian Women's Basketball Play-Downs

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—Considerably heartened by the presence of Noel McDonald Robertson, who flew to this city to strengthen the Alberta cause, Edmonton Army and Navy Pats tied up the Canadian women's basketball championship series at one game apiece by taking the Vancouver Hedlunds, 45-41, here tonight.

The game was by far the most rugged of any played here this season, as both sides went to it tooth and nail from the opening whistle. In the rough going a total of 47 personals were called.

Asking and receiving no quarter the contest soon developed into a free shot exhibition, with the girls trooping from one end of the floor to the other trying their luck at the foul strip. In this department the losers had a slight edge, sinking 15 of 27 tries to the winners' 15 for 30.

At no point in the fray was either team more than four points to the good, with the Pats ahead 15-12 at the first quarter, Hedlund on top 27-24 at the half, and 34-33 at the three-quarters mark. Unlike the previous game it was the Albertans who held on in the latter stages of the fight when they played a heads-up passing game that stopped the locals cold.

High pointmaker for the night was Hedlund Rita Bell (16), followed by Noel Robertson (13) and Laura Scott (10).

Adding to the general melee were the calls of the referees, neither of whom pleased the fans or the players. Obscure rules were dug up, territory invaded and an air of mutual distrust clouded every call. Fans at times thought they were sitting in on a field trial, particularly after a Vancouver girl was penalized for a "broad jump."

Outstanding feature of the second game was the passing plays of the Pats, noticeably absent in the earlier bout. Robertson, Dann, Colville and Scott, playing like clockwork, completely disorganizing the Vancouverites.

Line-ups:

Edmonton—Limming, Strachan 3, Callaway, Colville 5, Spence, Hembling 5, Skitch 1, Schwarz, Scott 10, Dann 8, Robertson, 13. Total 45.

Vancouver—Bell 16, Burnham 4, Wilson 3, Watson 4, Stoddart 3, McDermott, Seohie 2, Southcott, Armour, Gordon MacKenzie 2, McArthur 7. Total 41.

In complete control of the play, Maple Leafs [illegible] after [illegible] at their opponent's [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] were stopped [illegible] but had to concede two more counters to Christensen before the end of the match.

Wests Overcome Two-Goal Lead by Navy in Cup Soccer Match—Final Score Is 3-3

Suddenly springing to life after the second Navy goal in the last half made them realize they were faced with defeat, Victoria Wests exhibited some of the fire that marked their play during the league schedule and came storming back to earn a 3-3 draw with the sailors in the first round of the Solarium Cup series at Macdonald Park yesterday afternoon. They will meet in the replay next Saturday on the same grounds.

Although producing spotty football in the first half, the match was speedy all through, with most of the excitement crammed into the middle part of the final stanza, when the Wests put on the pressure and boomed in three counters to come up with the draw.

Still in the throes of the slump that hit them after a series of injuries, Wests were badly outplayed in the first part of the half as the sailors opened with a rush. Lack of finish in front of the goal again prevented the latter from finding the net as they kept the play in their opponents' territory. Young Vince Clarkson, making his first start in senior company, was in the nets for the Wests and came through in fine style, making a number of good saves.

Wests improved slightly as the half wore on, forcing several corners, but their best chance went begging when Reside took a fast cross from Barnswell and deflected it into the post after taking plenty of time. James broke into the clear for Navy and had a clear run for the goal but could not pick his spot and Clarkson made his move at the right time to smother the shot.

GOALS COME FAST IN SECOND HALF

Play opened fast in the final half and Briggs, substitute for Stewardson in the Navy nets, made saves from Restell and Reside. At the other end Clarkson made a great stop on a terrific drive from Grant, but a few minutes later the same player got credit for the first goal when his shot deflected off Perkins' foot into the corner. Navy went two up when DeCosta scored on a penalty kick after Perkins took Vincent down hard in the goalmouth as they jumped for the ball.

At this stage Wests made several line-up changes, Scott moving to inside right in place of Latham, Hayward coming in at inside left replacing Hutchinson, and Youson taking over his regular spot at right back. The changes paid dividends at once as the revitalized Greenshirts stormed around the Navy nets and, after missing some great chances, finally scored when Reside headed in Barnswell's perfect corner.

Jock Grant, stellar inside, got this one back when he connected with a beautiful first-timer to give Clarkson no chance, but the Wests were not to be denied and came back stronger than ever. DeCosta dumped McMillan in the goalmouth and Reside got his second when he converted the penalty shot. Hayward got the equalizer when he cut over in front of the nets to take a bouncing ball which Youson had sent goalward and booted it past Briggs.

Play slackened after the last goal and neither side was dangerous in the few minutes that were left.

For 30 minutes Wests were the club they were at the start of the season and served notice they have recovered their form as they fought back in the second half. Russ Latham, big youngster from the Oak Bay juveniles, was used at inside right by the Wests. Obviously trying too hard and nervous, Latham acquitted himself creditably, although he had trouble with his kicking. Clarkson showed distinct possibilities and will probably be in senior company next season. Earl Barnswell was a standout with his well-placed crosses from the right wing, and Reside perked up after Hayward moved in to partner him. Bobby Bell turned in a steady performance on the back line.

Jock Grant, inside left recruited from the Royal Navy ranks, was a standout for the sailors. Norm Butterfield was the pick of the half line, playing his usual consistent game. Both backs were weak and let their checks away too often.

CHANNING Pollock, in "Harvest of My Years," tells of a train journey he took at the age of fourteen. He had already some strong views on the subject of literature and was no doubt well-read for his years. He fell into conversation with a burly gentleman who listened with a good deal of interest as the boy expounded his views on Byron and Dickens, and Pollock was willing to go on expounding. Finally the gentleman [illegible], remarking that the youthful [illegible] were indeed admirable, [illegible] if he did not read [illegible] of [illegible] contemporaries and suggested that Sherlock Holmes might have interested him. But Pollock replied: "Don't you think that detective stories are a waste of time?" "I can't honestly say I do," replied the stranger. "You see, my name is Conan Doyle."

Chelsea Chalks Up 2-0 Victory in Cup Final

Defeats Millwall Before 90,000 at Wembley Stadium—Royal Family Witnesses Fixture

LONDON, April 7 (CP)—The King, the Queen and Princess Elizabeth were among England's biggest sports [illegible] watched Chelsea win the League South Football Cup today by defeating Millwall, 2-0, at the Wembley Stadium.

The match was remarkable for its dullness and both goals came early in the second half, after which thousands of people left the grounds when the game developed into an unenthusiastic display.

It was the strangest of cup finals. Chelsea, who lost out in the cup decision last season, fielded eight "guest players" because of their men in the services and injuries to players.

Millwall's 11-man team included four "guests" and it was the first team in history to hold the league cellar position throughout most of the season and reach the cup final.

The King, in the uniform of admiral of the fleet, received a tremendous ovation when he walked on to the field to shake hands with the players before the kick-off. The Queen wore a blue ensemble, while the Princess was in the uniform of the Auxiliary Territorial Service.

The gallery of distinguished visitors included King Haakon and Prince Olaf of Norway. Allied ministers and military leaders included Viscount Wavell, Viceroy of India, who wore civilian clothes.

After the game the King presented the cup to John Harris, Chelsea captain, and the Queen shook hands with the players as they filed through the Royal box. Harris is a regular of Wolverhampton Wanderers, but was on leave in London and was one of the guest players. Two other guests scored the goals, Don Wardel of Exeter, and Macdonald, of Bournemouth.

Gate receipts were announced as approximately $120,000.

Nearly 250,000 persons saw the eight League North Cup second-round matches with the largest crowd at Manchester, where Manchester United smashed Stoke, 6-1, before 45,000 fans. At Liverpool, 27,000 saw the home team beat Manchester City, 3-0, while 35,000 saw Manchester United wallop Bradford 8-2. Thirty thousand at Birmingham saw the City team and Wolverhampton play to a scoreless draw.

Second games of these home-and-home, total-goal cup-ties will be held next Saturday.

In the Scottish Southern Soccer League, Motherwell and Falkirk had a "rehearsal" for their forthcoming cup semi-final when Motherwell, playing at home defeated Falkirk, 5-2. Glasgow Rangers beat Clyde, 3-0, and Morton edged out Dumbarton, 2-1.

Highlight of the Scottish Northeastern League was Aberdeen's 4-1 victory over Dundee, with Army Armstrong scoring his team's four goals.

Canucks Beat Monarchs 7-6 In Overtime

WINNIPEG, April 7 (CP)—Moose Jaw Canucks captured the Western Canada junior hockey championship by defeating Winnipeg Monarchs, 7-6, in overtime tonight at Winnipeg. They won the series four games to one.

Winger Douglas Toole, formerly of Notre Dame Hounds, broke up the exceptionally fast, hard-fought game at 5.46 in overtime with a back-hand shot that found the top left-hand corner of the Winnipeg goal.

Moose Jaw, sparked by their first string of Ashworth, Marquess and Omstead, moved into a 2-0 first period lead. At the end of the second, they were leading, 2-1. They pushed their lead to 4-1 before the Monarchs in desperation fought back to a 6-6 deadlock in the last fourteen minutes of regulation time.

The Moose Jaw score card was built up on three goals by Marquess, two by Omstead, and one each by Prystai and Toole.

Scorers for Winnipeg were Taylor with one, Daniels with three, and Albright and McRae with one each.

25,000 Homeless in Mississippi Flood

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 7 (AP)—Flood waters of the rampaging Red River in Northeast Louisiana had driven more than 25,000 persons from their homes tonight as tributaries of the Lower Mississippi poured high waters southward toward the already flooded major stream.

A main levee at Hargis Plantation on the Red River eight miles below Colfax, a town of 1,100 persons, broke today and engineers held little hope of preventing a break above the farming community, adding to the total homeless.

Soldiers from Camp Livingston joined the fight today to strengthen the levee above Colfax and prevent a break. Sand-bagging crews have battled the rising Red River for [illegible] days.

Citizens of Fundalle aided in sand-bagging the levee on the Quachita River and at Monroe. German prisoners of war were aiding.

Tag Day Problem—Mayor George, receiving another request yesterday for permission to hold a tag day, commented that some arrangement should be made by which women's auxiliaries to military units could co-operate to reduce the number of tag days. He noted that although the City Council had ruled early in the year that tag days should be held no oftener than every other week, the rule had already been broken.

By-Election May Be Held May 10

A by-election to fill the New Westminster seat to the Provincial Legislature, for many years occupied by the late Hon. A. Wells Gray, will probably be held May 10. Nomination day may be May 7.

The dates have not yet been set officially nor confirmed by the Cab- [illegible] available.

Mr. Gray, who was Minister of Lands and of Municipalities, died May 7 last year. Formal notice of his death was given to Hon. Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Speaker of the Legislature, late in the recent session when H. E. Winch, C.C.F. leader, took that step. Election machinery was immediately set in motion.

Keen interest attaches to the by-election, not only as it concerns the Provincial Coalition Government, but also as a possible indication of the trend of public opinion with a Federal election in the offing.

Only candidate definitely in the field so far for the seat is Fred Hume, former New Westminster mayor and a veteran in Municipal Government circles. He is Indepen- [illegible]

Adventure, Drama, Romance In Air Film at Dominion

The army dictum of "The right man in the right place" was, perhaps, never more aptly illustrated than in the Darryl F. Zanuck film production of the Army Air Forces—Moss Hart show, "Winged Victory," which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

The soldier-cast of the company just didn't happen by accident or a sheer stroke of luck—it was assembled by a lot of hard work on the part of Director George Cukor. He realised that only the most experienced and talented men in their field could make the production a truly great one, and so he made available to Mr. Hart many of the outstanding men of the theatre who were members of the Army Air Forces personnel. Each soldier in the company of 300, regardless of rank, has been a specialist in some part of show business both in civilian and army life prior to their assignment to the show.

Thus, filmgoers throughout the country will recognize in "Winged Victory" many of Hollywood's outstanding young actors, including Lon McCallister, Edmond O'Brien, George Reeves, Ray Middleton, Mark Daniels, Ray McDonald and others.

Stark Melodrama In Atlas Mystery

John Garfield returns to the screen of the Atlas Theatre Monday in the vividly dramatic and exciting Warner Bros.' film hit of a few seasons back, "They Made Me a Criminal," where he portrays a young, tough-skinned but soft-hearted fighter.

Ann Sheridan, Claude Rains, and the Dead End Kids handle the other top roles with a supporting cast including Barbara Pepper, William Davidson, Ward Bond, Robert Strange and others.

The picture, highly regarded as one of the better Garfield vehicles, alternates stark melodrama and idyllic romance and uproarious humor, the latter, of course, being contributed by the Dead End Kids.

A Scene in Capitol's Musical Film

Having practically moved heaven and earth to arrange this meet with next-door neighbor John Truett (Tom Drake), Esther (Judy Garland) "just can't seem to place him" when her brother Lon (Henry Daniels, Jr.) introduces them at a party. A scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Technicolor musical, "Meet Me in St. Louis," which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre, starring Judy Garland with Margaret O'Brien.

Thrilling Climax in York's Tensely Absorbing Film

"Bluebeard" is always a fascinating story. There have been many "Bluebeards" since Perrault's classic Contes, who killed six wives and supplied material for a legend that has provided thrills to countless readers, and there have been many mystery-killers in the annals of crime who have earned the title of "Bluebeard."

The P.R.C. picture, "Bluebeard," which will open at the York Theatre on Monday, with a midnight preview tonight, more than maintains the tradition of thrilling entertainment. And John Carradine, in the title role of this modern Bluebeard, gives further evidence of his artistry and versatility in a powerful and convincing characterization.

The lean and Hamlet-like Carradine fairly revels in the part of a mysterious strangler who kills his beautiful girl model because of a psycopathic urge which dominates him.

Many lovely girls and women cross the path of this sinister character throughout the picture, and all—with one exception—end up in the Seine, strangled. The one exception is Lucille, played by Jean Parker. How Lucille escapes provides a thrilling climax to a tensely absorbing story.

Sonja Henie in Excellent Show

Sonja Henie has amazed moviegoers often in the past with her sensational artistry on the ice, but in the 20th Century-Fox film, "Everything Happens at Night," which opens Monday at the Oak Bay Theatre, the blonde champion emerges as a full-fledged, expert dramatic actress. Boasting a timely and danger-spiced story filled as well with gay and romantic touches, this film presents Sonja with two leading men, Ray Milland and Robert Cummings, and the result of their collaboration is a screen treat. Included in the cast are Maurice Moscovich, Leonid Kinskey, Alan Dinehart and Fritz Feld.

Story of Gypsies At Rio Theatre

A Russian film festival will be held at the Rio Theatre during the week starting Monday, April 9.

Six outstanding Russian pictures produced in recent years have been selected for the festival. Each program will include two films, to be presented two successive days.

The feature picture on Monday and Tuesday's program, which will be previewed at the midnight show tonight, is "Gypsies," a story of carefree tribes wandering from one part of the vast Russian steppes to another and portraying the dances and music of this strange people.

Thrilling Suspense in Cadet Murder Mystery

This idea of teaming Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray as a murder team in Paramount's "Double Indemnity" may surprise some moviegoers at first, but after seeing this thriller due Monday at the Cadet Theatre, there will be only admiration for this pair who enact their roles so well.

The story is an adaptation of James M. Cain's best-selling novel of the same title and the suspense engendered through it, the book carries right over into the tense picture. The third member of the starring trio is Edward G. Robinson, insurance company claims investigator, who finally tracks down the two criminals, Barbara and Fred. The movie has a Los Angeles and Hollywood background, but for once, doesn't show a film studio's gates.

Did Not Retire At Own Request

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., in a statement issued today said he had not retired as general officer commanding the Pacific Command at his own request.

Commenting on a statement made in the House of Commons last night by Douglas Abbott in reply to John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) in which Mr. Abbott said he understood Gen. Pearkes retired at his own request, the general said:

"If Mr. Abbott was correctly reported he is obviously misinformed. I received from the adjutant-general the following message: 'There is no suitable employment for which you can be recommended in the Canadian Army.'"

Judy Garland, Tom Drake In Capitol's Technicolor Film

"Meet Me in St. Louis" throws the spotlight on that great American institution, "the family circle," due for its most memorable inning when motion picture audiences meet the Smiths of this outstanding Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Technicolor production when it opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

Starring Judy Garland, and adapted from the charming Kensington Avenue series of sketches, the Smiths prove to be a jolly tribe of eight during the years of 1903-04. Their everyday adventures provide such a nostalgic note that many a home of 1944 doubtlessly will begin to yearn for the good old days.

As Esther Smith, high school senior and second daughter of the Smiths, Judy Garland steps back again into a juvenile role reminiscent of "Wizard of Oz." In spite of its setting, however, there is music aplenty to [illegible] the [illegible] of 1944 crop of [illegible]. Seven [illegible] song numbers range from sentimental ballads to gay and lilting dance tunes of 40 years ago.

Sharing in stellar roles is the sensational child star Margaret O'Brien, Tom Drake and Marjorie Main.

Deanna Durbin Musical Film Held Over at Plaza Theatre

Most people who meet Deanna Durbin for the first time have the same reaction. Their comment invariably is, "My, she's even prettier in person than on the screen." And it's been true up till now.

Not that Deanna has stopped being beautiful; on the contrary, she is lovelier than ever. But for the first time Deanna is seen by her many fans as she really is in her new picture, Universal's Technicolor filmusical, "Can't Help Singing."

The film, which has been held over at the Plaza Theatre, is the lovely star's first Technicolor venture and according to those in the know, it does her full justice.

In "Can't Help Singing," which tells the story of Deanna's trek to the West in the gold rush days, in pursuit of her fiancee, the lovely star sings Jerome Kern melodies written especially for the picture.

Robert Paige has the romantic lead opposite Deanna.

James I of England created the position of poet laureate in 1617 and gave it to Ben Jonson.

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (CP)—A "Short Pants Union" has been formed here and its secretary says, "On a chosen day members will wear short trousers. After the precedent has been established no one will be thought queer for doing so." Londonderry tailors now are forming a society for "counter-propaganda."

Worried Over Draft Woman Dies in Fire

DEEP RIVER, Ia., April 7 (AP) —A 28-year-old farm woman, apparently worried over the possible drafting of her husband, fatally burned herself and three children yesterday, Coroner W. R. Phillips said today.

Phillips said Mrs. Elsie Krakow poured gasoline and set fire to her six-weeks-old baby, Michael, Carol, 2 and Mary Ann, 5, and then ignited her gasoline-soaked clothing.

The act was discovered by the husband and father, Carl Krakow, who recently passed his draft examination and two weeks ago received a six months' deferment.

Swedish Women Are Luckiest in World

LONDON, April 7 (CP) —The Royal Commission on Population asked Mrs. Alva Myrdal, Swedish sociologist, to come to London and give evidence, and she told them that children born in Sweden are the luckiest in the world.

Herself the mother of three children, Mrs. Myrdal said Sweden has found "the natural desire to have children blossoms in a society friendly to children."

In 1935 a new plan for boosting the birthrate was started in Sweden. [illegible] Expectant mothers were treated with interest and deference by the public as never before and men started pushing baby carriages for the first time in Sweden's history.

Housing was Priority No. 1 for children and 12,500 special "family houses" were built with extra rent-free bedrooms. The state rebated 30 per cent of the rent for families of three children, 40 per cent for four children and up to 70 per cent for larger families.

For food there was a two-price system; food for children was cheaper than that for adults. Maternity bonuses were made universal.

Instead of saying married women have the right to work, Mrs. Myrdal said, Sweden's viewpoint is that "working women should have the right to marry and have children."

Y.P. Organizations

Semi-annual election of Central Baptist Y.P.U. were held Friday evening, with Dr. Rowell acting as chairman. A piano solo was given by Miss Joan Frewing and an accordion solo by Miss Emma Gower. Elected to office were: John Richmond, president; Joe Lambert, vice-president; Joyce Richards, recording secretary; Florence Cromwell, corresponding secretary; [illegible] treasurer; Gladys [illegible], missionary treasurer; Reg Hussey, song leader; Frances Rowell and Joan Frewing, pianists, and a look-out committee comprised of eight members.

Gives Lecture on Art

During a meeting sponsored by the Toronto Conservatory of Music Alumni at the Victoria Truth Centre on Friday night, Hon. Mark Kearley, chairman of the Vancouver Island Region of the Federation of Canadian Artists, stated that happiness was dying out in the Western World.

He also claimed the modern age had caused people to lose something and that art might play a big part as a remedy.

"We have lost something precious in life which must be found again and we must strive to find it," he said.

Mr. Kearley showed a number of silk screens, and Mrs. Ina Uhthoff explained methods of making them. G. Edwardson presented a colored film entitled Canadian Landscape.

Serving Sentence For Manslaughter

HARTFORD, Conn., April 7 (AP) —Three of six officials and employees of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus tonight were serving sentences imposed last February when they pleaded no contest to charges of involuntary manslaughter arising out of the big-top fire which took 168 lives here.

Half an hour after Judge William Shea had denied a defence motion to suspend execution of sentence in three cases, James A. Haley, vice-president of the show, was on his way to the state prison at Wethersfield under a sentence of from a year and a day to five years, and Edward R. Versteeg, chief electrician, and William Caley, had been taken to the Hartford County Jail to serve sentences of one year each.

George Washington Smith, the show's general manager, and Leonard S. Aylesworth, boss canvasman, however, will start serving sentences of from a year and a day to five years at noon June 7.

FLEE BURNING HOME

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP) —Nine persons, including three sick children, were forced to flee from their home at 3984 Commercial Drive, when fire broke out early today. Miss Gertrude Asher, who was passing the house, warned occupants about the fire. The house was the joint home of the Andrew Jurgenson and William MacKay families.

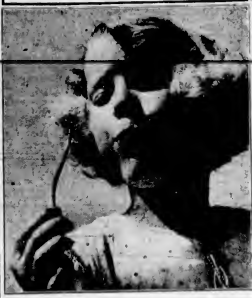
CLOSE-UPS



A portrait attachment on the camera, or cropping during enlarging, will yield close-ups like this.

CLOSE-UP portraits of people never cease to be fascinating. Because of this fact our picture magazines are full of pictures showing famous people and ordinary folk with such directness and clarity as only the camera can achieve. It is probable that this extreme closeness, in which the hairs of the head and the wrinkles of the face can be counted, gives us a heightened feeling of intimacy. We do not find it necessary to squint and strain to see what a face really looks like; close-up photography shows it as it is, as impersonally as it would record the furrows of a newly-ploughed field.

Notice the young girl's fine sunlit golden curls in today's picture, and the puckered lips as she blows the delicate threads of the dandelion pod in seed. This closeness to the child heightens, too, your anticipation of what is about to happen. In a split second the seeds will fly from the miniature gale which she is about to release.

Anticipation, incidentally, is something to be on the watch for. To capture it in a picture is to make the picture that much more fascinating. Any picture that hints at things to come, no matter how unimportant, stirs the imagination and prompts the spectator to linger a little longer. The element of anticipation is in reality a form of action.

To get back to close-ups. It is a good rule in taking pictures of people, for the reasons already mentioned, to get as close up as possible. With inexpensive cameras you can't get very close unless you use a portrait attachment. Even then, however, you can't get as close to your subject as the camera appeared to be when it took the picture of the child blowing the "money stealer." Such close-ups are, more often than not, enlargements in which everything has been eliminated except the area of the head and shoulders.

In enlarging, this elimination of unwanted areas is called cropping. Even if you have your enlargements made by a photo-finisher you can instruct him to crop the picture the way you want it. All you have to do is to mark the contact print with a pen or pencil to indicate to the finisher how you want the picture cropped. To make this clearer you can easily visualize a negative of today's picture which includes the rest of the young girl right down to her shoes. With a print of the full-length figure before you, you would draw a frame around the desired area, the top of which would run a quarter of an inch from the top of her head just as it does in the illustration. The bottom would cut right across the knuckle of the little finger. With this marked print and the negative, your photo-finisher should understand exactly what you want.

And remember: it's close-ups that those in the services like.

GIRLS BECOMING HUNTRESSES

The old saw about whistling girls and crowing hens coming to no good end was handed out plenty to your mother, even in post-Victorian days.

Then the willful young lady did her whistling in her own home. But now Dr. Henry Bowman, director of home and family living, Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., says girl meets boy with a whistle, on the streets. He concludes that the shortage of men, "we are having a war, you know," has done some strange things to girls. They've become huntresses, he says, boldly seeking dates and even proposing marriage. They have, of necessity, lowered their standards in boy friends. Some, concludes the doctor, will date anything that grows whiskers or even peach fuzz.

He agrees some girls still cling to their high moral standards, but some are so eager to please their dates that they neck freely. Girls cut in at dances where they so greatly outnumber boys and feel no impropriety in doing so, which repels the average sensitive intelligent man, because this type doesn't fit in with his concept of how his future wife should behave. Under this surplus of attention from girls, boys visualize themselves as "God's gift to womankind."

All of these things, with the accompaniment of bad manners on the part of boys, may seem very distressing, but the situation is hardly new. Blame the war for it, and if you are a Bible student you may recall that way back, before there was anything worth fighting for in Europe, the Prophet Isaiah, Chapter IV, Verse 1, mentions a similar state of affairs as follows:

"In that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying, we will eat our own bread and wear our own apparel; only let us be called by thy name to take away our reproach."

So you see that the girls of whom Isaiah wrote went as far, if not farther, than the girls of today. What is whistling to a boy on the street compared with seven ancient huntresses squabbling over one man?

In spite of the deluge of letters which come to this column telling how girl meets boy, I've heard nothing of such tactics. ... Seven women taking hold of one man indeed!

REVIEWS OF NEW BOOKS

"The Cleric's Secret," by Warwick Deeping

The little English town of Southfleet buzzed when unprepossessing John Gurney arrived from London to assist sanctimonious Reverend Jones. The buzz grew louder at the unusual sermons he preached and became thunderous when his elderly maiden landladies discovered two London dance hall tickets in his trouser pockets.

A gossip-mongering pillar of the church spied on him the next time the little cleric went to London and the secret was out. Some of the town's inhabitants pointed the finger of scorn at Gurney, others rallied around sympathetically, but the scorn was to change to envy and the sympathy to pride.

Warwick Deeping has written a deeply understanding novel of a sensitive and admirable man who holds to his beliefs and ideals.

World War I is Gurney's salvation. He goes to war as a padre, braves German gunfire in the trenches with the foot soldiers, gains their admiration and wins decorations and heroism.

The little man became a symbol to the soldiers who dubbed him the Front Line Priest. He narrowly escapes death in the Battle of the Somme and returns to England. All ends well for Gurney and the women he loves.

"Swing Your Partners," by Durward Maddocks

A guide to modern country dancing, the book, by diagram and calls, explains the motions and figures of the old "square" dances and other steps which have delighted country folk through generations. The printing is odd but readable, and the pages contain much fun with their adequate descriptions.

"Home in the West," by Harvey Fergusson

Harvey Fergusson subtitles his latest literary effort "An Inquiry Into My Origins." He commences with his maternal grandfather, a German immigrant who left his native land to rough ride through the wild United States of the middle 18 hundreds.

To this grandfather, Fergusson attributes his own characteristic liking for solitary reflection which led to writing as an emotional release.

Fergusson lived in the fabulous country which thrived on bygone tales of Spanish conquerors, wild Apache Indians, pioneering on the Santa Fe trail.

It is a story of American "yesterday," making the background for the author's account of his own youth, until he reaches manhood.

His romantic forebears, among whom was his father, pioneer Southern lawyer and politician, provide made studies in the type of Americans who pioneered New Mexico and the Southern states.

Municipalities to Ask Government Aid

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP).—Premier Hart and his Cabinet are going to have still another delegation hammering on their door and asking for a special grant. The executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities decided yesterday to ask the Government for a hearing. The request was turned down.

FRED SIGLER

Who for the last two years has been in charge of the paint shop at Mooney's Auto Body Shop, 914 Cormorant Street. He learned his trade 22 years ago as an apprentice and since then has painted everything from ships at V.M.D. to autos. Before going to Mooney's he worked in such well-known plants as Vancouver Auto Metals, Don I[illegible] and Bagg Motors of Vancouver and Thos. Plimley, Victoria.

"Fred's the best painter in town!" Mr. Mooney says. "He has an uncanny way of matching color and he can turn out paint jobs that make your car look like new again."

"Now's the time to have that paint work done," continued Mr. Mooney, "before the really nice weather comes along when you will want to use your car more often."

Mooney's Auto Body Shop is equipped to handle anything in the way of painting cars, trucks and buses and Fred and his crew can do the work. We have a large selection of prewar paints. No job too small or too large.

Fever From an Unknown Cause

By DR. J. B. WARREN

A slight cold or an attack of indigestion can cause a rise in temperature which returns to normal in a day or two. However, where the rise in temperature is present every day the cause should be investigated. It may be a low infection from teeth, tonsils, sinuses, large intestine or gall bladder. It may be the beginning of some thyroid or other condition. The rise in temperature is a sign that nature is fighting for you, but the cause of nature's fight should be found.

Jap Army in Burma "No Longer Exists

CALCUTTA, April 7 (AP)—The shattered Japanese Fifteenth Army in Central Burma, officially estimated three weeks ago at 50,000 men, "no longer exists as an effective fighting force," a Southeast Asia communique announced today, and a headquarters spokesman said two other enemy armies, the Twenty-Seventh and Twenty-Eighth, were badly mauled in attempts to rush relief.

The announcement said the fighting inside the Mandalay-Meiktila pocket in Central Burma led to one of the "greatest victories" in Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's command.

The communique, issued at Lt.-Gen. Leese's headquarters, said that in an "intensive killing match" with the Japanese in the past few weeks the British Fourteenth Army had gained complete mastery of the battlefield and "there are no Japanese organized forces inside the Central Burma pocket."

Praises Eagles' Work

Praise of the numerous contributions to Victoria by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Victoria Branch No. 12, was given by Mayor Percy E. George at the 46th annual banquet and dance last night at the View Street headquarters. He noted their motto "Liberty, Truth, Justice and Equality," adding that with such a theme the branch could not go astray.

Welcome was extended to the 500 members and friends present by Bernard Duncan, president of the local branch. David Essler, district director of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, was chairman, and officials of Up-Island branches made brief addresses. They were, B. Wilson, Ladysmith; B. Anderson, Nanaimo; C. Smith, Port Alberni, and Fred McNeil, Vancouver. Eight members of 40 years standing were seated at a special table. Mr. Duncan presented a financial report which mentioned membership of 1,900.

Entertainment was provided by J. Donaldson, Madona McCabe, Mrs. D. Cockrell and F. B. Turner. A dance followed the banquet.

Book Exchange Work

Work of exchanging 25,000 unemployment insurance books in the Victoria area is well under way, according to C. A. Mudge, manager of the local Selective Service office, who warned yesterday that specific information for all questions on the back of the present book must be supplied.

Approximately 16,000 employers are affected in the book exchange, and 50 per cent have already made application, with 3,075 new books mailed out to date, Mr. Mudge said.

The employment situation showed little change in the past week, Mr. Mudge noted. There were 197 men placed during the past week, and 331 were registered as unemployed, against 741 job vacancies. Although 165 women received employment through the office in the week, there were 424 listed as unemployed, with only 360 vacancies to be filled.

Greek Navy Leader To Form Government

ATHENS, April 7 (AP)—Admiral Petros Voulgaris, head of the Greek navy, was named by the Regent Archbishop Damaskinos today to form a new Government succeeding that of Premier Nicholas Plastiras, who was dismissed.

Earlier today Plastiras told a press conference he would refuse to resign, but the Archbishop informed [illegible] dispense with Plastiras' services.

LOOKING Forward!

SEVEN HUNDRED Ford Dealers watch the war with double intentness. Besides having their sons and brothers under fire, they also know that many of their skilled servicemen are keeping the planes and tanks in fighting trim and servicing the hundreds of thousands of motor vehicles which transport modern armies and their supplies.

Today these seven hundred Ford dealers, lacking these skilled men, are doing their utmost to keep vital transport running here in Canada and also to keep civilian cars on the road.

Tomorrow, to them, is full of promise. When peace settles over the world they expect that their mechanics will come back better equipped than ever to serve the motorists and truck owners of Canada. Scores of additional young mechanics, thoroughly trained by the armed services will find employment in Ford dealer organizations.

These men will help to provide a standard of service more prompt, more skilled, more complete and efficient than Ford owners have ever enjoyed before.

I got so talking to a gal with a sort of Garson face. But this unusual creature kept staring into space. Her mannerisms were studied, she seemed to me to ease. It even was dramatic the way she powdered her nose. "This life is all so trivial, these kids bore me to distraction," then she looked at me with another studied action. "Hollywood," I said, "seems the place for you." "Yes, I know, that's what I'm going to do. You know," she added, "when I come out of a movie, my thoughts are so unsettled. I'm not on Yates Street. I'm simply out of this world." Then she left me in this coffee shop with a sloe-eyed sort of leer, and I was Walter Pidgeon and she was the gorgeous Greer.

Lost Both Arms But Carries on

WIARTON, Ont., April 7 (CP)—Fifteen years ago Howard Melbert had both arms severed at the shoulder when he came into contact with a 6,600-volt power line. Today, at 31, he can:

Write clearly with a pen in his mouth or held between his toes.

Drive horses with the reins around his neck, fork hay, hoe the [illegible] and drive a car.

He hoes by holding the handle against his neck with his chin. Remarkably developed neck muscles do the rest. For pitching hay he follows the same style for grasping the fork handle and adds a lift with one knee to send the hay sailing into the air.

He has broken in horses. He mounts them to ride by taking a standing leap from the ground and has become one of the best horsemen in the district.

He is engaged to pretty Alice Farrow and they hope to marry soon. A farmer now, he wants to continue a farmer and learn to do even more things for himself.

Report Himmler and Goering Have Agents Working Abroad

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP).—Heinrich Himmler and Hermann Goering were disclosed officially tonight to have agents abroad trying to sell works of art and other valuable properties. Two possibilities appear:

1. That they are preparing to finance postwar Nazi activities throughout the world.

2. That Himmler and Goering may be trying to build up funds for their own escape from defeated Germany if they can make it.

These and other bits of information about what the Nazis are up to in the final days of war in Europe were reported in a State Department broadcast.

Together with today's report from the Allied Command on the Western Front of the capture of huge quantities of gold and currency in a salt mine in Central Germany, they filled in some of the picture of the future plans of Hitler and the Nazi party for carrying on the war underground after this fighting stops.

Assistant Secretary of State Julius C. Holmes told on the State Department's broadcast about the Himmler and Goering deals. He did not specify where their agents are working but from other sources it was learned they have been in countries either actually neutral at the moment or recently classed as neutral.

"One German agent," Holmes said, "is now trying to liquidate valuable stolen property and place the proceeds (minus his commission of course) at the disposal of Himmler—all under cover you may be sure."

Would Discuss Fishery Problem

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP).—Peaceful and effective adjustment of fishery problems affecting United States and Canada should be made during the forthcoming United Nations Conference at San Francisco, it was decided yesterday at the annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association.

Supplementing resolutions passed in Tacoma and Vancouver in 1944, the resolution urged both Governments to take advantage of the conference to adjust international problems involving North Pacific fisheries.

Another resolution adopted protested discrimination against motor freight carriers at border crossings. Delay and expense and restraint of trade result from Canadian customs rules, it said, and it was urged that highway freight carriers be placed on a parity with railways and enjoy the same privileges accorded them.

Takes Over Defence Of Austrian City

By The Associated Press

The Vienna radio yesterday (Saturday) broadcast to Austrians "an order"—signed by "Reich Defence Commissioner for the Reich Defence of the District of Vienna, Baldur von Schirach"—that Karl Scharitzer, deputy gauleiter, would "take over affairs of the state administration."

The latter, it was said, would assume authority instead of the present district governor and permanent Reich commissioner of Vienna, Dr Dellebruegge.

Federal Communications Commission monitors reported the broadcast.

Private to Colonel

LONDON, April 7 (AP) Movie actor Jimmy Stewart who enlisted in the Army Air Force as a private, now is a full colonel.

He is serving as chief of staff for a United States Eighth Air Force combat wing consisting of several bomber groups. He came to the European theatre of operations 18 months ago as a B-24 pilot with the rank of captain.

Stewart has flown in 20 combat missions, several of them as command pilot. He led a formation of 250 Liberators over Berlin the first time the Nazi capital was attacked in daylight by American bombers.

NNEW GOVERNMENT

LONDON, April 7 (AP) President Eduard Benes announced today the formation of a new Czecho-Slovak Government, designed to obtain the strongest support from Moscow, and headed by Zdanko Fierlinger, former Ambassador to Russia, as Premier.

Expect Opposition In Tourist Field

KAMLOOPS, April 7 (CP)—Hon. E. C. Carson, British Columbia Minister of Trade and Industry, said last night British Columbia's tourist industry is going to face powerful competition from the United States, Mexico and South America after the war.

Moreover, he stated, formerly remote resorts will be within a day's [illegible]

To meet these conditions, he said, two things are required: (1) The kind of services must be provided which will entice visitors from the South, and (2) more and more highways, with better surfaces, must be constructed.

Addressing the banquet meeting of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association, which concluded a two-day meeting here, Mr. Carson said he was "sticking his neck out," but that he "looked for the early removal after the war of all highway tolls in British Columbia."

"They must be wiped out," he said.

Mr. Carson anticipated that many would fly from the United States to the Alaska Highway, where they would hire cars and travel over the famous wartime road.

Immense possibilities would be opened up by the building immediately after the war of a road to the Peace River country. Other new roads for postwar travel would be from Prince George to Prince Rupert, from Hope to Princeton, and from Kamloops to Jasper.

Referring to the new law which provides for the classification of all camps and resorts, Mr. Carson said, the standards would be worked out with and by the Resorts Association.

He urged owners to support the organization.

H. B. Williams, Vancouver, president, stated that since organization has been accomplished the next objective is the active membership of every resort and auto court owner in British Columbia. He expressed pleasure at the co-operation given by the Government.

F. R. Brason, Vancouver, executive director, was pleased at the way owners had so far responded to the plan of organization. During the afternoon session many joined.

Die While Training

WINNIPEG, April 7 (CP)—Two soldiers died this week after training accidents suffered at Shilo Military Camp, 120 miles west of here, military authorities announced today.

Pte. Cornelius Ginter, of Plumas, Man., died after suffering injuries in bayonet training and Pte. Donald I. King, of Grimshaw, Alta., after suffering head injuries in a parachute jump.

SESSION ENDED

WINNIPEG, April 7 (CP)—The Manitoba Legislature, in session for two months, prorogued today with Lieutenant-Governor R. F. McWilliams giving assent to the last of approximately 100 bills approved by the House.

Postwar plans featured the session, Premier Stuart S. Garson obtaining approval for programs on rural electrification, health and educational reforms, and highway and public works construction.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

Little Stories for Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

WHY SLOW POKE IS CALLED A BOX TURTLE

Slow Poke the Turtle continued on his way down the Lone Little Path through the Green Forest and Peter watched him. Peter would have liked to walk along with him, but to have saved his life he couldn't have moved along as slowly as Slow Poke did. Peter nearly choked with laughter every time he thought of how Slow Poke had said that he was in a hurry and actually seemed to mean it.

Peter went over to a little bramble tangle where he could sit in perfect safety and look for some distance down the Lone Little Path around which Peter could not see from where he sat. Just as Slow Poke reached this turn some one came trotting swiftly down the Lone Little Path past the bramble tangle. A sharp face peeped in and grinned at Peter. It was Reddy Fox. Peter was very thankful that he had crept into the bramble tangle instead of going on down the Lone Little Path.

Slow Poke the Turtle continued on his way down the Lone Little Path.

For the time being Peter forgot all about Slow Poke the Turtle. Reddy pretended that he was going to try to creep into that bramble tangle after Peter. Peter made a face at Reddy. He knew that Reddy wouldn't [illegible] tearing that red coat of his. Reddy didn't. He told Peter what he would do to him if ever he caught him and then trotted on down the Lone Little Path. He was half way to the next turn when Peter remembered Slow Poke. Peter gave a great start.

"Reddy Fox will see him and catch him," exclaimed Peter. "That fellow can't run if he tries! It's too late for him to hide now and I am afraid, dreadfully afraid, that something is going to happen to him."

Watching from the bramble tangle Peter saw Reddy Fox quicken his steps. Then he saw him crouch and spring forward on Slow Poke the Turtle. Just what happened then ~~Peter couldn't see~~ but he noticed that Reddy made no attempt to bite Slow Poke. Instead he slipped a paw under Slow Poke and rolled him on his back. Then he sat down and [illegible] at Slow Poke for the longest time. When he grew tired of doing that he amused himself [illegible] Slow Poke about as Black Pussy the Cat used to play with a ball. At last he grew tired of doing that and disappeared around a curve in the Lone Little Path.

Peter could just see Slow Poke lying on his back at the turn in the Lone Little Path. He didn't move. Peter watched for a long time and still he didn't move. At last Peter's curiosity could stand it no longer. He was sure that by this time Reddy Fox was far away. Creeping out of the bramble tangle he hurried down the Lone Little Path where Slow Poke lay. By this time Peter was anxious. He was sure that Slow Poke hadn't moved and he greatly feared that it was because Slow Poke had been hurt. When he reached Slow Poke he stared as if his eyes would pop out of his head. Slow Poke was on his back but there was absolutely nothing to be seen of him except [illegible] shell. That shell was different from the shell of Spotty the Turtle with whom Peter was so well acquainted. It closed up just like a box. Peter understood now why Slow Poke was called a Box Turtle.

Not Miracle Workers

LONDON (BUP) Plastic surgeons in this country dislike being called miracle-workers, despite the tremendous advances which have been made during the war in the field of plastic surgery and British surgeons have played a big part in this particular field.

They are now using a method of attaching skin grafts by glue. This glue is easy to make. It consists partly of plasma and partly of a cell growing substance. The graft is pressed into position in a few minutes.

This is a simple technique compared with the old method entailing [illegible] followed by the application of pressure bandage, which had to be held in position for several days.

Car-Truck Collision Claims Five Victims

YAKIMA, Wash., April 7 (UP) The lives of a family of four, including a marine sergeant home on leave after two years in the Pacific, were snuffed out today in a car-truck collision which claimed a friend of the family as a fifth victim and left a sixth near death.

Dead were William H. McAllister, 59, his wife, Rodie McAllister, 50, their son Sgt. Melvin W. McAllister, 21, their daughter Mrs. Ethel Marie Snider, 22, all of Buena, Wash., and the friend, Miss Betty Jean Finley, 21, of nearby Toppenish.

LONDON (BUP) Sleeves, jumpers and other articles of clothing made from dogs' hair are being worn by some of the villagers at Leverstock Green, near Hemel Hempstead, Herts. Weaving at home is quite a popular pastime at Leverstock Green and the villagers have hit on the idea of using wool from dogs' hair to solve the coupon problem.

TAXATION AND PROSPERITY

"Heavy taxation and national impoverishment have a definite affinity. Low taxation on the other hand has helped create the unparalleled record of progress and high living standards found on this continent. When taxation lessens initiative it must decrease the national chance of building a sound economic security.

"War has, of necessity, brought taxation to a point that would have been intolerable in times of peace. Its destructive forces in times of war are offset by the people's willingness to pay any price for victory. The situation will entirely change with the passing of that anxiety, and public antagonism to a heavy tax load will increase. When war ceases, the tax structure, as a result, must be revamped.

". . . High taxation puts a premium on economic inaction."

From the address of A. N. Mitchell, President, The Canada Life Assurance Company, at the 98th Annual Meeting.
